Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell of taste of sight of hearing the human voice the mind—one or more and sometimes all yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored because but little understood by most physicians impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time then that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds sneezing snuffling and obstructed breathing and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms clearing the head sweetening the breath restoring the senses of smell taste and hearing and neutralising the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs liver and kidneys

Inherited
Diseases.

In the realm of disease the facts of inheritance are most numerous and are daily accumulating. Here, alas, they become terrible, fateful and overwhelming. No fact of nature is more pregnant with awful meaning than the fact of the inheritance of disease. It meets the physician on his daily rounds, paralyzing his art and filling him with dismay. The legend of the ancient Greeks pictures the Furies as pursuing families from generation to generation rendering them desolate. The Furies still ply their work of terror and death, but they are not now clothed in the garb of superstition, but appear in the more intelligible but no less awful form of hereditary disease.

Modern science, which has illuminated so many dark corners of nature, has shed a new light on the ominous words of the Scriptures, "The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." Instances of hereditary disease abound. Fifty per cent. of cases of consumption, that fearful destroyer of families, of cancer and scrofula, run in families through inheritance. Insanity is hereditary in a marked degree, but, fortunately like many other hereditary diseases, tends to wear itself out, the stock becoming extinct. A distinguished scientist truly says "No organ or texture of the body is exempt from the chance of being the subject of hereditary disease." Probably more chronic diseases, which permanently modify the structure and functions of the body are more or less liable to be inherited. The important and far-reaching practical deductions from such facts—affecting so powerfully the happiness of individuals and families and the collective welfare of the nation—are obvious to reflecting minds, and the best means for preventing or curing these diseases is a subject of intense interest to all. Fortunately nature has provided a remedy, which experience has attested as infallible, and the remedy is the world famous Swift's Specific a pure vegetable compound—nature's antidote for all blood poisons. To the afflicted it is a blessing of inestimable value. An interesting treatise on "Blood and Skin Diseases" will be mailed free by addressing

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Forecast of the Coming Week in Congress.

TERRITORIAL ADMISSION BILLS

The Fisheries Treaty Will be Considered in Open Session, or Fuller's Confirmation Will be Postponed Indefinitely

WASHINGTON May 27—The bills for the admission of North Dakota Montana and Washington territory are special orders on the senate calendar for the coming week. The Indian appropriation bill will probably be called up Monday or Tuesday and will consume a day or more. The river and harbor bill which will be reported to-morrow may be called up before the end of the week.

The fisheries treaty remains a matter of dominant interest in the senate and promises to displace special orders and all other business except appropriation bills until it is acted upon. The course of events however depends largely upon the action of the democrats in the caucus to be held to-morrow morning. They have power to delay action indefinitely upon the motion to consider the treaty with open doors which is the pending question but actual filibustering though so long threatened has not yet begun. There are other matters of executive business of great importance before the senate or its committees in respect to which democrats desire early action among them the nomination of Mr Fuller to be chief justice and all of these must probably be delayed as a consequence of any dilatory movements in connection with the motion to take up the treaty. The belief is expressed by senators of both parties that at the next secret session a vote will be reached and that the democrats will content themselves with voting in the negative. They will thus help make a quorum, and will allow the majority to be responsible for admitting the public to hear the discussion. Should all this take place, however it will still remain in the power of any two senators under the rule which is applicable to legislative as well as to executive business to eject the public and close the doors at will. The rule has been invoked in recent years only to summarily shut off some senator who wished to have an open vote on the proposition to admit the public to an executive session and it seems to have been made for use in just such cases, but it is well adapted to other uses. Inasmuch as a strong minority of the senators are bitterly opposed to the present proposed innovation it is apprehended its use may become common during the fisheries debate. Only one executive session with open doors can be recalled by men whose memory covered the proceedings of the senate for a period of more than forty years. This was the session of two or three minutes held on the last day of President Arthur's administration on which occasion the message nominating General Grant for general on the retired list of the army was received and acted upon. This exceptional course was recommended by the president, and adopted in defiance of rules by the senate as an extraordinary mark of respect to the nominee.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS

The house to-morrow will probably continue the consideration of the legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill. The tariff bill will then be taken up for consideration debate under the five-minute rule being in order. The republicans will doubtless pursue the caucus policy of opposing every paragraph of the bill by offering amendments and demanding votes on them, so the volume of work is not likely to show any material progress towards a final disposition of the bill. The state of the appropriation bills does not compare favorably with their condition during the last long session although the business was then much below the average. Up to date but two of fourteen appropriation bills have passed both houses the military academy and pension bills. Five more have passed the house namely the postoffice diplomatic District of Columbia Indian and river and harbor bills. One the legislative is pending. Six bills have not yet been reported from the committees. These are the sundry civil army navy fortification agricultural and general deficiency appropriation bills. At a corresponding period in the 49th congress, nine of the appropriation bills had passed the house and three had passed the senate which was just one third more than has been similarly disposed of this session

A NOBLE PURPOSE

Senator Stanford Sets Forth What He Hopes to Accomplish With His Great University

WASHINGTON May 27—Just before Senator Stanford left for Europe he expressed himself as follows with respect to the objects and purposes of the Leland Stanford University of California. "Generally the objects of the institution are set forth in the articles of endowment but there are of course minutiæ not set forth in them. I may say that I propose that the institution shall have steadily in aim the possibilities of humanity and how to realize them. In this institution I desire that students shall be made to appreciate evil consequences. There are probably in California to-day more adult men engaged in selling distilled liquor than are engaged in tilling the soil and I am satisfied taking the country at large that with the waste of time of the numbers of people engaged in selling and waste consequently by consumers there is a loss to the country in general fully equal to 25 per cent of the power of production. I want the education of students to be such as shall give them a realizing sense of the importance of temperance. I desire every student to have an opportunity to know practically how to cultivate the soil for every branch of agriculture. Particular attention will be given to the subject of co-operation. I want in this school that one sex shall have equal advantages with the other and I want particularly that females shall have open to them every employment suitable to their sex. I believe in doing so that they will be stronger physically and mentally and better fitted for wives and mothers and I believe that if avocations of life are thrown open to them without their engaging in anything unsuitable to their sex they could add another 25 per cent to the power of production of the country and thus will go far toward realizing the possibility of giving comfort and elegance to all.

As I desire this institution to deal particularly with the welfare of the masses it will be open to the poor as well as to the rich and the price of tuition will be so moderate as to be within the reach of most people. The few very rich can get their education anywhere. They are welcome to this institution if they will come but the object is more particularly to reach the multitude of people who have to consider the expenditure of every dollar. The hope is to care even for the orphan. They may be sent there and will be provided for comfortably and be looked after. Free scholarships will be provided for meritorious young people who are unable to pay for their education. Such students will be given an opportunity to earn money to help them through their college course. There will be a machine shop and a department to encourage inventions. Religious teachers will be provided for but sectarianism will be prohibited."

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH

The Territorial Delegates to Chicago Will Work as a Unit

WASHINGTON May 26—Appearances would seem to indicate that the territorial delegates intend to make themselves felt at the republican national convention. There will be twenty of them in all, including four each from Washington and Dakota, and Dakota has elected six more who will ask for admission. Three of the delegates in congress will be among the delegates at Chicago, Gifford of Dakota Carey of Wyoming and Dubois of Idaho and the plan they will urge on their fellow delegates will be to present a united front for territorial home rule. They will hold their twenty or twenty six votes together and will cast them for the candidate who makes the most satisfactory pledge in this respect. Personal prejudice will be sunk to attain this object and if their man wins he will be held to strict fulfillment of the pledges made before the election.

Home rule as these gentlemen use this term means that the territorial offices shall be filled by residents who have grown up with the territory and understand its needs instead of by imported politicians. Twenty votes are more than some of the states have and will represent a factor which the friends of leading candidates cannot afford to ignore

THE FISHERIES TREATY

Republicans Will Probably Secure Its Consideration in Open Session

WASHINGTON May 27—From present indications the republican senators will succeed to-morrow in their purpose to secure the discussion of the fisheries treaty in open session. The opposition of Senator Hale has prevented them from having a majority for the proposition. It is understood now that Senator Hale has telegraphed from New York taking sides with his party. This will give the republicans a majority if a vote is taken and the only way by which the democrats can obstruct the carrying out of this programme is by refusing to vote. In case of their refusal to vote the republicans would be without a quorum. That the democrats will resort to this form of opposition there is little room to doubt, but it is declared that notice has been served on them that if any attempt is made at filibustering the republicans will stop on all other executive business until a vote on holding an open session on the treaty is had. This would mean if nothing more serious holding over the nomination of Fuller to be chief justice. Therefore there is every reason to believe the senate will decide to consider the treaty in open session

A DANGEROUS LUNATIC

Boston Corbett, the Slayer of John Wilkes Booth, Escapes from Kansas Asylum

TOPEKA, May 27—Boston Corbett who killed John Wilkes Booth President Lincoln's assassin, and who has been in the state asylum here for the past month made his escape and is now at large. Corbett was taken out with other patients for his regular morning exercise about the grounds. A horse belonging to a visitor stood near the building saddled and bridled. Catching sight of it Corbett sprang from the ranks loosed the animal leaped into the saddle and was away before the guard could hardly realize what had happened. Corbett has been violent some time, and has made numerous threats that he would escape and kill the governor and state officers and all others who had anything to do with his incarceration. It is supposed Corbett headed for his home in Cloud county which he believes is being occupied by his enemies whom he has sworn to kill. Soon after Corbett killed Booth his mind became affected but he was never considered dangerous until about a year ago, at which time he was doorkeeper in the house of representatives and suddenly caused the house to adjourn by appearing before them with two pistols threatening to kill the speaker and other members

AN INDIAN SCARE.

A Reported Outbreak of Redskins Sets a Small Town Wild With Excitement.

ST PAUL Minn, May 27—A Bismarck Dak special to the Pioneer Press says: Gov Church Friday received a telegram announcing great danger of an Indian outbreak at Oelrich stating that residents and ranchmen were leaving. He immediately informed the war department and directed Col Thornby to proceed to Oelrich and investigate and instructing Adjutant General Jenkins to have two companies of militia ready to move at once. The First regiment of territorial militia has also been notified

Col Thornby yesterday telegraphed that the scare was started by friendly Indians on Friday telling the ranchers to leave the country, as the young Indians were going on the war path. The women and children left Oelrich, and the town is wild with excitement

SHERIDAN CANNOT LIVE

He Has Been Gradually Sinking for Forty-Eight Hours.

ALL HOPE HAS BEEN ABANDONED

His Mind Remains Unimpaired and He Makes All Preparations for Death Realizing His Condition

WASHINGTON May 27—The following bulletin was issued this morning, at the consultation at 8 A M by Drs O'Reilly Byrne Yarrow and Mathews:

Gen Sheridan has rested fairly well during the latter part of the night and has taken a small but plentiful supply of nourishment. His pulse at this hour is 112, and strong. Breathing has been labored at times during the night but it has been improving constantly since 4 A M. The unfavorable symptoms reported last evening were not relieved till 4 A M. He expresses himself as rested and as feeling comfortable.

R M O'REILLY
W MATHEWS
H C YARROW
C B BYRNE

WASHINGTON May 27—Gen Sheridan is not so strong nor so well this evening as he was early in the day. There has been no recurrence of heart trouble but the efforts of the physicians to rally him from the attack of yesterday evening proved unavailing. At this time (8 15 P M) the doctors are even less hopeful than before.

HOPE ABANDONED

10 30 P M—All hope has been abandoned and it is not believed Gen Sheridan can live another twenty four hours

To an inquiry made at 11 30 P M as to Gen Sheridan's condition the answer returned was: He is hovering between life and death

1 A M—At this hour it is reported that there is no change in his condition. He is holding his own and is rational at all times except when immediately inhaling oxygen when he becomes somewhat flighty. The doctor says it is improbable that any change will occur for several hours

1 45 A M—Sheridan is sleeping quietly and in no immediate danger. The only persons in the room are the doctor and nurse. The other doctors are lying down and Mrs Sheridan has also been persuaded to take a short rest. The general has had one or two slight attacks of cough

4 A M—All is quiet at Gen Sheridan's house. The general has been sleeping at intervals and all have retired for a much needed rest except Mrs Sheridan, one of the physicians and a valet

GRADUALLY SINKING

The Remedies Administered Fail to Have Any Effect.

WASHINGTON May 27—Gen Sheridan's condition is much worse than it was last night. He appears to be gradually sinking and hope has been abandoned. His strength is gradually failing and while there has been no recurrence of heart failure there is a continual tendency in that direction and his pulse has been growing weaker and his breathing more labored. The blood is thick and black. Ever since the attack last night the physicians have been doing everything in their power to stimulate the action of the heart but without success. Its beating is feeble but uncertain. Despite the administration of digitalis and other powerful remedies his strength gradually failed during the day and the hope that he would be able to rally has proved illusive

He rested well during the early part of the evening. He had some trouble in breathing during the night but he improved early in the day. He rested easily and was perfectly conscious and rational, recognizing those around him. Peptonized milk and chicken broth was given and he took the latter with relish. His appetite was good and he retained all the food he took. The nourishment however did not seem to give any strength and he grew weaker and weaker. His interest in passing events did not seem so keen as on the previous day and he read no newspapers as formerly not seeming to care for them. A few intimate friends were admitted to his room and to those he listened with attention. His respiration grew worse as the day wore on and the lungs failed to properly purify the blood. Digitalis failed to have much effect upon him and about 2 o'clock it was found necessary to give him oxygen in order to prevent the blood becoming poisoned. This gave him considerable relief and he rested easy from 2 until 5 o'clock he slept for quite a while and since that time he has been dozing at frequent intervals. Bromide of potassium mixed with chloral has been given to induce sleep

Two physicians remained at his side to give immediate attention in case of need and all of the doctors attending the sick general were frequently there together. He did not leave his bed during the day but remained there propped up with pillows

About 6 o'clock he desired to be lifted up higher and two attendants assisted by Mrs Sheridan endeavored to raise him. He was so heavy that they had some difficulty and the general noticing this said jokingly: "I am pretty heavy but I haven't got any paralysis" referring to a newspaper statement giving that as his malady. The œdema of the lower limbs which has been mentioned is dropsical swelling, and is due to imperfect circulation of the blood. Gen Sheridan fully realizes that his end may come at a moment's time and it is said has made all the arrangements he desired to have perfected prior to his demise

One of the physicians in attendance said this evening: "Gen Sheridan has great vital power but I do not think he will be alive thirty hours from now and certainly not in two days unless there is a great change. He has no pain and I think he will sink away easily. A recurrence of the heart trouble may come the heart will cease to beat and all will be at an end"

At the general's house all is quiet and conversation is carried on in whispers so as not to disturb him in the least should he be able to sleep. There was a steady stream of callers at the residence during the day and many telegrams were received asking for news as to his condition. The callers included many persons well known in Washington life and a considerable number of them were ladies. The president sent a bouquet of flowers and a note of sympathy to Mrs Sheridan. He asked to be informed of the general's condition and expressed a sincere hope that his life would be spared. The general had also been a great favorite with the president who admires his frank open manner of expressing his opinion on current topics and his peculiarly pleasing way of emphasizing a statement by little anecdotes

The general appeared gradually to grow weaker as the night fell and this change was noticed in the doctor's notice which was prepared at 8 o'clock and issued later. It reads as follows:

"8 P M—Repeated attacks of partial failure of the heart and its continued feeble action have induced a condition of the lungs which prevents proper aeration of the blood. This condition hitherto has been measurably controlled but shows such a tendency to recurrence as to justify the most serious apprehensions. It is critical. He is free from pain and so expresses himself"

Two hours later another bulletin was issued. It simply said: "No change for the better has taken place in his condition"

PLYMOUTH'S NEW PASTOR.

A Fuller Account of the Election of Dr Abbott.

NEW YORK May 26—Rev S B Halliday, assistant pastor of Plymouth church is certainly not pleased with the action of the church in formally electing Dr Lyman Abbott pastor to occupy the place filled by Beecher. Before the election Halliday read a long address. He said that his objection to Dr Abbott was not because his teaching was not acceptable to him but because he did not believe he would have the whole church at his back if called permanently. He did not think it was in Dr Abbott to increase the congregation. He did not believe that any man would sustain Plymouth church who had a divided responsibility. He would not put a ballot in the box for Dr. Abbott as permanent pastor.

A letter was read from Prof Rossiter at Raymond in Alabama. He said that Dr Abbott had carried on the church for nearly a year that it had not retrogressed but in several important respects had gone forward. Experience had shown that Dr Abbott could carry on the double work of editor of the Christian Union and pastor of Plymouth church.

F L Ferris said members had said that they would consider that they had been defrauded of their money for seats if Dr Abbott were chosen permanent pastor.

J G Sherman said he would take the seats of such persons off their hands if they would sell.

A ballot was then taken and Dr Abbott was elected by a vote of 400 for and 60 against. The society then met and ratified the action of the church unanimously.

HEALY DILLON AND O BRIEN

They Denounce the Bishops Who Support the Papal Rescript

DUBLIN May 27—John Dillon speaking at Kildare to-day denounced the bishops who support the papal rescript regarding Ireland. He said the nationalist party was not afraid of any bishop's threats nor of any man late from the Vatican and it was not going to abandon the plan of campaign or boycotting with which weapons it had fought the battles until now.

Healy in a speech at Waterford twitted the pope with working his own plan of campaign when the Sardinians grasped his territory and with boycotting Victor Emmanuel.

Wm O Brien addressed a large meeting at Limerick. He uttered bitter words against Bishop O Dwyer saying the threats contained in the bishop's manifesto with reference to the rescript were rash and the most unjust ever made. Bishop O Dwyer left Limerick yesterday after supplying copies of his manifesto to every Orange newspaper but he did not send a copy to the mayor to whom the manifesto was nominally addressed and who discovered it in the journals. O Brien declared there never was anything falser than Bishop O Dwyer's assertion that the nationalists were agitating against the pope. The audience which was greatly excited uttered groans for Bishop O Dwyer. A dozen other Parnellites spoke at various places. About 20 000 persons attended the Limerick meeting. The better class of citizens and most of the local clergymen were absent

JUDGE DENNY

He Did Not Go to Corea in the Interest of China.

SAN FRANCISCO May 27—The North China Daily News has the following about an Oregonian: In reference to certain statements which were made not long since in our columns by a New York correspondent on the subject of Mr O N Denny's position in Corea we are now informed on the best authority that Mr. Denny did not go to Corea in the interest of China that no portion of his salary as adviser to the king of Corea is or ever has been received from the viceroy of China or from any other Chinese source and that the idea that Corea should be engaged in any intrigue against China is almost too absurd for publication. We have much pleasure in making these corrections but it is so difficult for the outside world to distinguish what is true among the unnumbered rumors that emanate from Seoul that we do not wonder at our correspondent's having been betrayed into a misconception of the actual situation

McGLYNN'S BITTERNESS

He Calls the Irish Fools and Compares the Pope to the Devil

NEW YORK May 27—Dr McGlynn in his speech to-night said: While the Irish fools are sending £30 000 to £40 000 per annum to the pope he sends them in return his blessing. Is it not strange that while money is being collected in New South Wales and other places for Ireland she sends this much to the pope? He said the pope resembled that individual who took the Savior up into the mountain

Have Joined the Tariff League.

NEW YORK May 26—The Tribune says: The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers of the United States has joined the American protective tariff league. Wm Martin is secretary of the association and Chester Griswold is treasurer of the league. One hundred dollars is the entrance fee. Joseph D Weeks general secretary of the league regards this action of the association as most significant and thinks that it is the first time in the history of protection that a labor union has officially connected itself with a tariff organization and that it indicates united action on the part of the working men and manufacturers which can lead to but one result namely complete ascendency of the doctrine of protection to American labor and American industry

An Honest Chinaman.

NEW YORK May 27—Even the anti-Chinese agitators are saying to-day that possibly an occasional representative of the Chinese race may be found to be honest. Yesterday James D Lane an aqueduct contractor, went into the laundry of Mrs Lee Chow and left $900 in a satchel when going out. He returned later with two big policemen to get it. Mrs Lee Chow had it ready and waiting. She had only taken a little peep at the bills and then put the tempter behind her. Lane was overjoyed

BERLIN CABLE LETTER.

Slow but Steady Progress of the Emperor's Ailment.

THE ALSACE LORRAINE EDICT

Russia's Economic Warfare Against Germany, and Bismarck's Probable Course of Action—The Landtag

(Copyrighted by the Associated Press)

BERLIN May 26 The progress of the disease in the throat and trachea of Emperor Frederick though slow is certain Without announcing the fact in bulletin the physicians permit it to be known that the emperor's throat has become so contracted as to necessitate a change in the shape of the canula with more frequent cleansing of the apparatus Several evening papers exaggerating the gravity of the present phase of the emperor's malady published alarming reports of a recurrence of the inflammation

The emperor's appearance in Berlin shortly after 5 o clock caused the public excitement His condition was not favorable for an outing but on learning of the renewal of public alarm the emperor asked Dr Mackenzie to assent to his taking a drive The doctors after consultation agreed and accompanied by the empress and the Prince of Wales who had lunched with the imperial family the emperor left the schloss at 5 o clock and drove to Berlin In a second carriage were the princesses while a third was occupied by Dr Mackenzie While on the road Dr Mackenzie was signaled to go to the emperor it is supposed to readjust the canula This incident occurred a short distance from the schloss where the crowd was sparse, and escaped notice The Prince of Wales returned with a party, and dined at the schloss The emperor retired to rest at 8 30 P M The rumor that he had suffered a relapse caused an increase of inquiries at the schloss telegrams coming from all parts of the continent Late to night it was officially announced that the rumor was unfounded and that there were no fresh inflammations of the wound

THE PASSPORT EDICT

Prince Bismarck is expected in Berlin to morrow His return is accelerated by the state of the negotiations with Austria the Russian tariff question and the attitude of the French government toward the Alsace-Lorraine passport edict M Herbette French ambassador has asked for an interview with the chancellor It is surmised with the intention of urging the withdrawal or modification of the decree

Prince Hohenlohe was summoned from Strasburg to report upon the situation He was received by the emperor yesterday and will meet Prince Bismarck Monday The passport decree does not meet with solid approval even in government circles It is admitted that the measure will have a baneful effect upon commerce in Alsace Lorraine and hamper tourists and travelers besides exciting more intense irritation in France Government organs express sincere sorrow that a decree so injurious to commerce and traffic should be forced upon the government but declare that no modification is possible until the malcontents of Alsace Lorraine accept their position as units of the German nation

The foreign office has under consideration a measure affecting travelers coming direct from England via Calais or southern port of France, via Belfort, who are not French citizens

RUSSIA'S ECONOMIC WARFARE

The inauguration of retaliatory customs measures against Russia is delayed until Austria is prepared to join in an economic war Public feeling in Germany and the opinion of business men concur in approving the government's projected reprisals It is not necessary for Prince Bismarck to await the assent of the reichstag before decreeing prohibitory tariff Under a law of 1879 the government was empowered to raise the tariff 50 per cent for countries treating Germany unfavorably The assent of the reichstag must be asked afterward Nobody can contest the fact that Russia is placing an exceptional tariff on German products For instance coal and coke entering Russian ports on the Baltic pay ½ copeck duty against 1½ copecks crossing the German frontier The tax most unfavorable to German industry is the differential duty on pig iron which amounts to 17 per cent if sent across the frontier Impending fiscal projects of the czar's government will also raise the duties on cotton fabrics and German wines At the same time the St. Petersburg authorities influence the railways to divert exports to Baltic ports, instead of over German railroads by giving preference rates to Riga and Libau Railway directors under the inspiration of the government propose to break the convention of rates formed last year with German railways by which advantages secured by Memel Konigsberg and Dantzic have given an impetus to the trade of these ports Further orders to the governor of the Baltic provinces direct him to energetically pursue a policy of expelling German traders and farmers Letters from Konigsberg describe numerous arrivals of families of traders, who were expelled during the present week on the briefest notice They have been refused permission to become naturalized Their property was seized, and they were sent to Germany ruined Apart from hostile political relations, the economic situation makes it necessary for Germany to retaliate

Prince Bismarck appears undecided regarding the extent of the measures against Russia whether they should be comprehensive prohibition, or only a limited increase of duties on cereals A semi official utterance in the Pesther Lloyd forecasts that the severest form of tariff war will be waged by both countries as a means of bringing affairs to a climax According to his article if Prince Bismarck intends to establish economic measures that will drive Russia to despair, Germany can rely on Austrian assistance to accelerate events, and so end the situation which has now become intolerable The language of the article corresponds with official information obtainable here which is to the effect that the Austrian government is ready to co operate with Germany's plans as far as compatible with the financial laws of Austria Hungary

To night's Berlin Post states that customs reprisals are not yet imminent The chancellor is still maturing plans but has not yet placed a project before the bundesrath

THE LANTAG

Both houses of the lantag met at 6 o clock this evening in joint session Herr Lutheboor presiding Herr von Puttkamer read a royal order closing the session Previous to the joint session the lower house held a sitting when Herr Richter seizing each occasion during a discussion on the validity of the election attacked the conservative national press as licensed organs that were privileged during the recent chancellor crises to defend Prince Bismarck at the expense of Empress Victoria He specially alluded to petitions to the crown which had been set afoot in Leipsic & Breslau asking the retention of Prince Bismarck in office, and condemning the action of the government in instituting proceedings against progressist papers for reprinting from conservative journals personal attacks upon the empress while allowing the original source of the articles to go unmolested

Herr Richter's speech evoked rejoinders from Herr Rauch and Herr Haupt conservatives Seidlitz conservative and Enneccerus national liberal each of whom protested against Herr Richter's dragging the name of the sovereign into the debate

PREPARING FOR WAR

Military movements on the frontier are progressing rapidly The official military organ publishes orders for strengthening the eastern garrisons in the districts of Neidenburg Solden and Lyck Austrian papers say that within the next few weeks the garrisons of Galicia will be increased by eighteen battalions Reinforcements are going to the Herzegovina frontier and also to Montenegro The Pesther Lloyd warns Prince Nicholas that Austria will not long tolerate a robber state in her vicinity, and that if under orders from Russia he disturbs the peace he will be crushed and Montenegro will cease to exist before its friends can interfere The threat is well backed The Austrian war office is certain its troops can sweep over Montenegro with little resistance

Gen von Plonitz accompanied by a number of Saxon staff officers has inspected the fort work at Cracow and other expected centers of operations

The Bratiano party in Roumania has issued a manifesto explicitly declaring that it is in favor of an alliance with Germany and Austria and denouncing Russia as Roumania's enemy

In the course of a debate in the lower house of the Hungarian diet at Pesth to-day, Herr von Tisza, prime minister, in renewing the refusal of the government to be represented at the Paris exhibition said he even could not advise Hungarians personally to send exhibits The government he declared was bound to consider what might happen if the political situation should become more complicated It must be remembered that at times popular feeling in France would become excited and it might happen that against the wish of the French government the property of Hungarian subjects would be damaged and the national flag insulted The statement caused a sensation in the house After a pause the prime minister added that France would certainly not take the non representation of Hungaria as an affront

A GRAIN CORNER

A corner in maize engineered by Austrian land owners has begun to seriously affect the market at home The syndicate has bought 150 000 tons payment for which is due on delivery It already holds 90 000 tons stored in Vienna Pesth and the chief provincial towns The public granaries are overflowing the rent of wharves and magazines has risen 100 per cent and the price of corn has advanced from five florins seventy kreutzers to six florins ninety five kreutzers per 100 metrical pounds The Hungarian corn harvest was deficient in 1887 by 800 000 tons and this in connection with the tariff which prevents imports from Roumania helps the syndicate

NOTES

Von Schweinitz German ambassador to Russia will leave St Petersburg June 1 He will come to Berlin on leave of absence with his family

Gen Stosch ex chief of admiralty recently obtained an interview with the emperor This fact caused the liberal press to circulate a report that Gen Stosch would be decorated and get an appointment against the desire of Prince Bismarck Gen Stosch returns to his country seat undecorated

The latest news concerning the emperor's condition is very satisfactory He has gained in weight during the past few days He spent a part of the evening in his study before he went to bed

BLACK AND HIS PENSION

New York Evening Post Administration

General Black now commissioner of the pension bureau is said to be a candidate for nomination for vice-president at the democratic convention and a "boom" of some sort has been set on foot for this purpose either by himself or some of his friends We think the public is entitled to ask for more moderation at Gen Black's hands in matters of this sort It is not very long since a bill was pushed through congress giving him a pension of $100 a month—the highest ever bestowed on anybody—on the express ground that he was "a complete 'physical wreck,' incapable of any effort helpless in both arms" and that "it was only a question of how long he would live" After he got the pension however, his condition did not prevent his seeking and obtaining and administering with much politics the office of commissioner of pensions, which he now holds No man drawing a pension of $1200 a year as a "physical wreck" ought to hold any salaried public office If Gen Black is well enough to hold the office he ought not to draw the pension if he is ill enough to draw the pension he ought not to hold the office We trust that he is not now going to cap the climax of his absurdity by asking for the vice presidency of the United States The president ought in some way to discourage Gen Black He is evidently too little of a wreck either for his own good or that of the public

GEORGE ROGERS CLARK

Under date of May 19 Benson J Lossing the noted historical writer sends the following letter to the New York Times

In the issue of the Times of yesterday you say editorially concerning Senator Sherman's proposition for a monument to the memory of George Rogers Clark in recognition of his eminent services in the occupation and conquest of the Northwestern territory during the Revolutionary war, that "No such Clark is known to fame but there was a Clarke not Clark who explored the Northwestern territory, and undoubtedly deserved well of his country, but his first name was William and his services were rendered not during the Revolutionary war, but in the years 1804 and 1806" I think a little close investigation would convince the writer of that editorial article that there was a George Rogers Clark who explored the Northwestern territory and performed most valuable services for his country by brave and judicious acts in that region and in Kentucky during the revolution The William Clark (not Clarke) to whom he refers who with Meriwether Lewis, explored the continent westward from the Mississippi river to the Pacific ocean in the years 1804 and 1806 could not have participated in the conquest of the Northwest territory in 1778-1780 for he was born in 1770 and was only 8 to 10 years of age He was nearly 36 when he completed his Western explorations William Clark was a younger brother of George Rogers Clark and each spelled his name without the final e as their autographs in my possession attest Please make this correction for the sake of historic verity

GRESHAM FOR PRESIDENT

Gen Gresham carries five Confederate bullets in his body Gen Andrew Hickenlooper a leading republican of Ohio who has been lieutenant governor has come out boldly in advocacy of Gen Gresham for the presidency He declares that Gresham's prospects are now brighter for the nomination than those of any other republican candidate

Judge Kelley of Pennsylvania the leading protectionist in the house says It seems to me as if Judge Gresham would be nominated at Chicago I was saying in the cloakroom to-day that the most notable sign of vitality in the republican party is the enthusiasm and spontaneous movement in favor of the nomination of Judge Gresham in the West It seems to me that this would be a most excellent nomination Judge Gresham has a great many splendid qualities as a candidate, and I don't know anything that anybody ever has said or could say against him He was a good soldier, he has acquitted himself well in every civil place in which he has been put, and has had large administrative and judicial experience Some portions of his military record are very striking and would appeal strongly to the older element of the country He is a strong clear, pure man As for a vice presidential candidate there are indications it seems to me that Levi P Morton of New York may be selected Mr Morton is very strong in New York, and I take it that the ticket of Gresham and Morton would be a formidable one in that state."

BATTLES PAST AND PRESENT

Features of the Rebellion Which Should be Forgotten

And Some Which Should be Remembered—The Time Coming When the Full Glory of the Struggle Will Appear

The Taylor street church was beautifully decorated with flowers and flags last evening, the occasion being the delivery of a sermon appropriate to Memorial day by Rev D Heagle, acting pastor of the church A large congregation was present Members of the different Grand Army posts occupied seats in front

Rev Mr Heagle took his texts as follow

Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations —Deut xxxii

Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life —I Tim vi 12

He said In these two texts there are two pictures put before us The first is that of an aged man having a great crowd of people before him Because he is a man of years he naturally looks back to the past and he is also trying to direct the attention of the people before him in the same way He says unto them "Remember the days of old consider the years of many generations" and the object of Moses in thus addressing the Israelites was as I suppose, one of about a three-fold nature In the first place it was to remind them of events which long before or perhaps only a short time before had elapsed so that they would not forget that these events had once existed Then, secondly it was, by thus quickening within their minds a remembrance of things gone by to stir up, if possible also within their minds a sense of obligation towards those past realities And lastly, it was by thus causing them to reflect upon past events to enable them to derive perhaps, from such study lessons of advantage for them in their future living These it seems to me, were the particular objects of Moses in calling the attention of his fellow descendants from Abraham to events which had occurred in their previous national history or perhaps to events which had occurred even long before that in the remote patriarchal or even in

ANTEDILUVIAN TIMES

Now this evening I wish to take the place of Moses and as he reminded the people before him of times gone by so I would remind you all here in attendance of a time which also is now one of the past I wish to speak to you of a time which in the history of our government and nation is second to none in importance if indeed it is not in some respects the most extraordinary of all which have occurred in our national history The period referred to is as you all know that of our late war, called the "war of the rebellion" and the especial reason why I desire to call up that subject for your consideration, are the same as those which Moses evidently had for directing the attention of his people to the past The past any way, is a topic which a great many people are very ready to forget and especially in these days when the attention of perhaps an over progressive civilization is directed almost entirely or predominantly to the future, it certainly will harm no one to pause a little and reflect upon things which have already taken place I call your attention therefore to the past and my reasons for doing so are, as said, three in number First that you may be reminded of things having once existed Second that you may have a proper regard and a proper sense of obligation for those past things and lastly that you may also derive from the study of these matters some useful lessons for your future living and also I may say lessons which will have an important bearing upon

FUTURE NATIONAL EXPERIENCES

This is the first picture which is given us by the scriptures we are using and the second one is that which is furnished by the second one of our texts, namely, a portraiture of another man whose attention is directed to the future Paul looking out from a little city called Laodicea in Asia Minor and writing to his spiritual son Timothy says to him Fight the good fight of faith lay hold on eternal life It is thus to a future battle as well as to one at present going on that Paul directs our attention and hence from these two pictures we have suggested to us the subject to which I wish this evening to invite your consideration It is as I term it battles past and present although the greater part of our study will be given to battles that have already occurred

THINGS TO BE FORGOTTEN

As a first remark then, with respect to our war of the rebellion, I want to say that there are certain features connected with this struggle which it were best, if possible, to forget Some of these features are the horrors, the cruel sufferings and the wrongs that were inflicted, whether on one side or the other At all events, these matters ought not now to be treasured up as grudges in the memory, grudges entertained by some of our citizens against others Then, too, all those personal resentments, feelings of animosity and of bitter alienation, which were engendered by the war and which separated as by an impassable chasm some of our people from others ought not [illegible] Away with all such causes of separation and let that union, beautiful and strong which seems to be [illegible] of the results of the war become ever more perfect than it is

MEMORABLE FEATURES OF THE WAR

On the other hand there are not a few features of the war which are worthy of being everlastingly remembered Such features are, first the undeniable greatness of the struggle Never before, nor indeed since in all the history of our country, has there been any other military conflict that could compare with this whether in point of the number of soldiers engaged in it the extent of territory over which the battles raged the financial cost of it all, or the amazing sacrifices made in human lives and in other human interests What Mount Hood is to the other summits about it that this war of the rebellion is when compared, as to size with the Revolutionary struggle the war with Mexico or with any other military contest ever engaged in by our American people

Second, the superior quality of our soldiers whether looked upon merely as men or as persons adapted to successful military endeavor is another of the features of the war which should not, and never will, be forgotten In every regiment of them, it used to be a common remark there were enough capable and intelligent men to take oversight of and to operate successfully any department of our government, had it been turned over to them

Third—Still another memorable feature is the obligation which the present generation of Americans and all other generations which are yet to live on our soil, are under obligations to those soldiers, so brave and patriotic and true, for their splendid deeds and sacrifices And still another such feature is the occasion or cause of the war, which of course is so well understood that it need not here be discussed although I for one am not quite willing to abide by the representation lately given of the matter, that "God only knows which of the two belligerent parties was in the right" If God only knows, then it is time, it seems to me, that some other persons bestirred themselves to find out the matter For to have fought for a cause and perhaps to have sacrificed almost everything for it, without knowing whether that cause was a righteous or an unrighteous one is just a little too much to stand in contented ignorance

Fourth—The numerous and splendid victories achieved by the boys in blue and some also achieved on the other side will forever, whether we are willing or otherwise cause the war to be remembered So too the work of the Sanitary and Christian commissions was a peculiarly interesting feature of this struggle And still more interesting and beautiful were the tender ministrations in the hospital and at the bedside of the dying soldier of our noble mothers and sisters and of many other noble women who thus helped in the war The magnanimous spirit with which the war has closed also is interesting And lastly we must not forget the many instances of a divine intervention on our behalf without which certainly the war would never have closed so favorably for the Union as it did

OTHER BATTLES AND PRACTICAL LESSONS

But we are still fighting important battles that is I may say for bread and for life battles for education and for position in society perhaps battles for wealth and for lofty distinction battles for character and religion battles of a private nature and battles in which our whole nation is engaged Instruction for these engagements is certainly a thing to be desired and now from a study of the various events constituting the last war we may easily learn many lessons of value for our purpose For instance to mention first, lessons which have a bearing upon our national experiences we learn that war is always an [illegible] necessity a terrible experience it being only [illegible] and we learn also, that any iniquitous principle like slavery imbedded in a government or in its workings, is sure at some time or other to make its appearance and very likely in a mischievous manner Also the strain necessary at times to reveal the patriotism of a people, and the real worth of a government as measured by this patriotism is a pertinent lesson as is moreover the fact that God having helped us in the war it is certainly our duty to be grateful to him

And then as for lessons pertaining more to private conduct we have these volunteering or going into a cause of one's own accord is a prime essential to success in that cause Such earnestness too, and resolution as were exhibited on a large scale in the prosecution of the war are equally essential to the prosecution of any other cause and particularly of a moral one So also persistency such as was that exhibited by Gen Grant when he said "We will fight the war out on this line if it takes all summer" is an essential to success in a moral cause And the final lesson is, that such grand cooperation of many workers all working toward one point, as was witnessed during our war—this also is essential to any great success in a moral or in a religious cause Receive then these instructions or follow these lessons which can be learned from events of the war, and then surely, you will be at least a fair way toward winning the battle indicated by St Paul in the words Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life

Decoration Day is coming Let us strew flowers on the graves of our fallen heroes but let us not forget to honor all other living Honoring the living or honoring the dead we by the same act honor also their comrades The time is coming when the mists and the darkness, which, with their wrong understandings and their ill feelings, still cover up and obscure the glory of the late war, shall be lifted and then the real and full glory of this war will appear, characterizing it as one of the greatest, and most fruitful in good results of all the wars that have ever been Then too, all Americans will recognize this fact and be as enthusiastic over it as old soldiers for the Union now are May God hasten the day of such results and let all the people say amen

AMERICAN ORATORS.

Going back to ante revolutionary times, it is a matter of regret that nothing remains of the most powerful speaker of that day I refer to James Otis of whom John Adams says "He was a flame of fire, with an outburst of classical allusions, a depth of research, a rapid summary of historical events and profusions of legal authorities, a prophetic glance into the future and a rapid torrent of impetuous eloquence He swept away all before him and every man of a crowded audience seemed to go away (as I did) ready to take up arms American independence was then and there born" This all was in reference to a place at Faneuil Hall, which thus received the name of the "Cradle of Liberty" Otis was the only one of our great orators who suffered the loss of reason which was due to a blow on the head received in a public affray occasioned by political discussion During this unfortunate condition he destroyed all his papers and soon afterward he was struck by lightning being the only statesman that met such a fate

PATRICK HENRY AND JOHN B GOUGH

Speaking of our early orators, it is curious to notice the difficulties through which some of them reached eminence Patrick Henry for instance, was in early life an utter failure His father set him up in a small store, which did not succeed, and then the youth married the daughter of an inn keeper, and for a while tended bar Reader think of the great Patrick Henry mixing toddy for the topers of a Virginia settlement! Later on he became a petty lawyer But it was a long time before an occasion presented itself which displayed his wonderful genius Thenceforth, however, he stood at the head of the profession, and soon became the leader of the patriots of Virginia From the descriptions given of Henry's oratory he must have resembled Gough, with the exception of the comic element Gough, too, was brought out by accident Like the Virginia youth, he did not know what was in him until the hour of utterance came The last time I met Gough, he talked about that very occurrence and he smiled at the picture he drew of himself—a miserable drunkard who happened into a temperance meeting and was induced to speak It was the beginning of that reform which he advocated with such fascinating eloquence

CLAY, SEWARD, RANDOLPH AND OTHERS

But little is really known of Patrick Henry's wonderful invective, for in those days it was impossible to report such a speech, and indeed it was rarely attempted Clay's speeches derived much of their power from the magnetic influence by which he had held his audience Clay's speeches were among the earliest that were fully printed John Randolph was noted for his withering sarcasm, and was by some considered insane His speeches were seldom reported and his fame chiefly rests on tradition I have found, however, one in Nile's Register which is really tremendous and I wonder it has never been inserted in collections of this character Webster's oratory was characterized by robust thought, simple but powerful language, and a bold presentation of national matters Seward's speeches are remarkably complete, and are admirable for the elegance of style as well as for argument They were written out with elaborate care before delivery and are among the most polished specimens of American eloquence Seward was a highly-gifted writer, but in elocution he was hardly above mediocrity Hamilton's speeches were not fully reported, and his fame as a speaker rests upon tradition He was however, highly eloquent, and his last effort in behalf of the liberty of the press awoke a general admiration The most finished of American orators was Edward Everett, but he lacked the magnetic power by which Roscoe Conkling held an audience Chauncey M Depew is the best off hand speaker of the present day and his more elaborate efforts indicate genius as well as sparkling wit, to which is added close application John Quincy Adams was an able speaker, but Lincoln was the only president that possessed the highest order of oratory He made no display, but there was a power in his presentation of facts which mastered his audience, while in point of argument he was unequalled These two features, sublimed by the loftiest patriotism, rendered Lincoln one of the greatest speakers of his day He was, however, great in so many other points that one loses sight of the orator in the general combination—as Shakespeare says

———the elements
So mixed in him that Nature might stand up
And say to all the world, This was a man

Manliness, indeed, is the highest order of nobility It characterized Roscoe Conkling, also, to a remarkable degree Whatever may have been his faults he was a true man, and it is this feature that awoke the admiration of Hermit, in Troy Times

Caution in the Close States

Boston Advertiser

While in the sure democratic and sure republican states the democratic conventions are declaring tumultuously in favor of the Mills tariff bill, it is noticeable that in the doubtful states of New York Connecticut and California they decline to commit the party to it, and carefully refrain from mentioning it The New York World's Washington correspondent says Mr Cleveland was surprised and disappointed at such a palpable omission from his own state while Mr Mills publicly expressed his chagrin

They All Turned Out.

St Paul Pioneer Press

Evidence of the way the South rallied to the defense of the cause during the war is found in the recent report of the secretary of state of Louisiana In that report he gives a roster of the Confederate troops engaged in the war which shows the number to be 33 343 infantry, 4024 artillery 10 056 cavalry 5497 in other commands making a total of 55 ,920 This is more than the total vote of the state in the election just preceding the war and shows the large number of boys who enlisted

The supreme court of the [illegible] having failed to render a decision [illegible] of the Oregonian Railway Company [illegible] against the O R & N Co. as was [illegible] and taken the matter under advisement [illegible] the fall term it has become necessary [illegible] something should be done to provide [illegible] payment of claims due against the [illegible] and for necessary repairs to the [illegible] Accordingly Mr C N Scott, receiver [illegible] presented the following petition to the [illegible] of the circuit court of the United States [illegible] the district of Oregon

Your petitioner Charles N Scott, receiver of the railways of the Oregonian Railway Company limited most respectfully represents and shows unto the court [illegible] fore, to wit On the 21st day of [illegible] 1888, he duly presented to this court [illegible] tion in which he represented [illegible] unto this court, that owing to the [illegible] shipment of the products of the [illegible] crops of 1887 which had, up to that [illegible] been made, the income and receipts [illegible] business of said railroad had been [illegible] cient to meet and defray the necessary [illegible] and expense of operating said Oregonian Railway for several months past, [illegible] at the time of the filing of said petition there was a deficit of about $11,[illegible] money due and owing as compensation [illegible] from your receiver to his employes [illegible] in the operating of said railroad [illegible] affairs, that in addition to said [illegible] $21,553 45, there were outstanding [illegible] issued for necessary operating expenses [illegible] said road, to the amount of $[illegible] that in addition thereunto, there [illegible] an outstanding liability [illegible] of the interest accrued on [illegible] receiver's certificates theretofore [illegible] sued amounting in the aggregate [illegible] $3013 12, making the total aggregate [illegible] debtedness at said date the sum of [illegible] That in said petition it was stated [illegible] were then outstanding accounts [illegible] and expenses estimated for the [illegible] month, amounting to about $[illegible] which as was represented in said petition more fully appeared by reference to [illegible] tailed statement of indebtedness of the Oregonian Railway Company, [illegible] which was attached to said petition marked "Schedule A," and was [illegible] titioner referred to

The said petition also set forth [illegible] impossible for said petitioner to [illegible] erate said road unless he could [illegible] money enough to tide over the present [illegible] sure and stringency in the receipts [illegible] road until shipments of wheat [illegible] crops of last year should be received

The petition set forth also the [illegible] your receiver that it was to the interest [illegible] concerned that enough money should [illegible] be borrowed to liquidate and pay [illegible] standing indebtedness and thereby [illegible] expenses resulting from suits [illegible] be instituted against the receiver [illegible] of the indebtedness that if the [illegible] were then borrowed your [illegible] said petition expressed the [illegible] and with the incoming [illegible] March and April, he would [illegible] bled to liquidate the indebtedness [illegible] upon the schedule already referred [illegible] thereupon the petitioner prayed [illegible] should be authorized and empowered [illegible] row $50 000, or such sum as the [illegible] under the circumstances deem [illegible] cient and at a rate of interest not [illegible] 10 per cent per annum and [illegible] might be secured, and in such [illegible] ner, as should secure to the lender [illegible] ferred lien upon the property [illegible] your receiver, which should be [illegible] riority as a first lien upon [illegible] the liens already created during [illegible] ership, or at least next in [illegible] thereto, and superior to all other [illegible] those already created by order [illegible] during said receivership, or [illegible] the court might provide for [illegible] method and manner of [illegible] of said loan as to the court should [illegible] be meet, proper and adequate.

And your petitioner shows that [illegible] on the 21st day of March, 188[illegible] ing heard the matter of said petition [illegible] ized the said receiver to make [illegible] purposes named in the petition [illegible] at a rate of interest not exceeding [illegible] cent per annum and provided [illegible] curity of said loan, and making [illegible] equal in degree to receiver's certificates [illegible] ready issued, a copy of which [illegible] is hereto attached, marked "Exhibit [illegible]" which your petitioner respectfully [illegible] leave to refer

That since the filing of the petition [illegible] ferred to and making of the order [illegible] said, some of the claims specified [illegible] schedule A have been paid [illegible] charged, whilst others have [illegible] such accruing expenses being [illegible] curred in the necessary operation [illegible] aging of said road That the [illegible] debtedness incurred in the operating [illegible] ating and managing the said road [illegible] date of the filing of this petition [illegible] of the principal and interest [illegible] certificates heretofore issued [illegible] date to the sum of $[illegible] in the schedule hereunto attached [illegible] your petitioner craves leave [illegible] "Schedule B."

That since the filing of the [illegible] aforesaid your petitioner has [illegible] ous efforts to negotiate a loan [illegible] by the said order of the court [illegible] date hereof without success [illegible] the opinion that his failure [illegible] has in a large part arisen from [illegible] ing in the minds of capitalists [illegible] or not receiver's certificates [illegible] be made prior in lien and [illegible] gage to trustees in favor of [illegible] cuted by the Oregonian Railway [illegible] limited on all its property [illegible] fore, without the consent of [illegible] trustees named in said mortgage.

MORE MONEY WANTED.

The Narrow Gauge Lines to be Put in Order.

Receiver Scott Asks to be Allowed to Borrow $125,000 to Make Repairs and Pay Claims Due

The supreme court of the United States having failed to render a decision in the case against the Oregonian Railway Company (limited) and taken the matter under advisement as expected the fall term it has become necessary that something should be done to provide for the payment of claims due against the company and for necessary repairs to the company's roads. Accordingly Mr C N Scott, receiver has presented the following petition to the judge of the circuit court of the United States for the district of Oregon

Your petitioner, Charles N Scott receiver of the railways of the Oregonian Railway Company limited, most respectfully represents and shows unto the court that heretofore, to wit On the 21st day of March 1888 he duly presented to this court a petition in which he represented and showed unto this court, that owing to the very light shipment of the products of the harvest crops of 1887 which had, up to that time been made, the income and receipts from the business of said railroad had been sufficient to meet and defray the necessary cost and expense of operating said Oregonian Railway for several months past and that at the time of the filing of said petition there was a deficit of about $21,543 45 then due and owing as compensation to the employes from your receiver to his employes and auxiliary pillars That in addition to said amount $21,353 45 there were outstanding claims issued for necessary operating expenses of said road to the amount of $6,299 11 and that in addition thereunto, there was an outstanding liability on account of the interest accrued on coupon of receiver's certificates theretofore issued, amounting in the aggregate $9613 12 making the total aggregate indebtedness at said date the sum of $46,402 That in said petition it was stated that there were then outstanding accounts unadjusted and expenses estimated for the incoming month amounting to about $5600 all of which as was represented in said petition more fully appeared by reference to a detailed statement of indebtedness of the Oregonian Railway Company, limited, which was attached to said petition and marked Schedule A," and was by your petitioner referred to

The said petition also set forth that it was impossible for said petitioner to run and operate said road unless he could borrow money enough to tide over the present pressure and stringency in the receipts of the road until shipments of wheat and other crops of last year should be actively made

The petition set forth also the opinion of your receiver that it was to the interest of all concerned that enough money should be borrowed to liquidate said past due outstanding indebtedness and therefore your petitioner expenses resulting from suits threatened to be instituted against the receiver on account of the indebtedness, that the sum of $50,000 were then borrowed your receiver in said petition expressed the opinion that, with the incoming receipts in March and April he would be enabled to liquidate the indebtedness shown upon the schedule already referred to, and thereupon the petitioner prayed that he should be authorized and empowered to borrow $50 000 or such sum as the court might under the circumstances deem to be sufficient and at a rate of interest not exceeding 10 per cent per annum and that said loan might be secured and in such way and manner as should seem to the court to be lender a priority upon the property in charge of your receiver which should be of equal priority as a first lien upon said property with the liens already created during said receivership, or at least next in subordination thereto, and superior to all other liens than those already created by order of the court during said receivership, or that the order of the court might provide for such other method and manner of securing the payment of said loan as to the court should appear to be meet, proper and adequate.

And your petitioner further shows that thereupon on the 21st day of March, 1888 the court having heard the matter of said petition authorized the said receiver to make a loan for the purposes named in the petition of $42,000 at a rate of interest not exceeding 9 per cent per annum and providing for the security of said loan, and making it a lien equal in degree to receiver's certificates already issued, a copy of which order so made is hereto attached, marked Exhibit A, which your petitioner respectfully craves leave to refer

That since the filing of the petition last referred to and making of the order last above, said some of the claims specified in said schedule A have been paid off and discharged, whilst others have accrued, such accruing expenses having been incurred in the necessary operation and managing of said road. That the outstanding indebtedness incurred in the expenses of operating and managing the said road, up to the date of the filing of this petition, including of the principal and interest on the receiver's certificates heretofore issued, amount at this date to the sum of $74,441 62, and is specified in the schedule hereunto attached, to which your petitioner craves leave to refer, marked "Schedule B"

That since the filing of the petition last aforesaid your petitioner has made strenuous efforts to negotiate a loan as authorized by the said order of the court, but up to the date hereof without success That he is of the opinion that his failure to place said loan has in a large part arisen from doubts existing in the minds of capitalists as to whether or not receiver's certificates so issued could be a prior lien and degree to the bonds issued to trustees in favor of bondholders and executed by the Oregonian Railway Company, limited, without the consent or citation of the bondholders of said mortgage, or the trustees named in said mortgage

Your petitioner further shows that a circular was issued by David Ferguson, secretary of the Oregonian Railway Company, limited, on the 20th of April 1888 which was addressed to the shareholders in the Oregonian Railway Company, limited, and purporting to be reports of directors and instructions of the directors and the resolutions of a committee of shareholders an excerpt from a minute of a meeting of the 18th of April 1888, on the subject of a proposed loan by the company and that the secretary of the company's lines was addressed to the United States petition by the United States court of the district of Oregon and the court order the petition and so forth a copy of the circular . . . .

The directors record for the bondholders of the company that the trustees for the above mentioned bondholders will also instruct the receiver to proceed and that the directors of the company may be served within this circuit, and the gentlemen . . . . meeting having expressed to the bondholders and known creditors of the company a copy of this circular . . . .

The effect of this declaration is to embarrass the aforesaid, has been to embarrass your receiver in the placing of said loan That trustees the bondholders of the said mortgage so executed to secure the Oregonian Railway Company limited, are Scottish bondholders John Guthrie Smith of Edinburgh Scotland Alexander Henderson of Dundee, Scotland, and Thomas H Cox of Dundee, Scotland, and they have no attorney or agent in Oregon and that it is impossible for your receiver to serve upon them personally or by mail the notice to be served upon them That with the filing of this petition your petitioner has contemporaneously sent to David Ferguson secretary of said Oregonian Railway Company, limited, and to the trustees, and has accompanied his petition with a letter requesting consent to the loan herein prayed for, and to notify the trustees to appear in court as prayed for, and to request consent thereto by cablegram, and to notify the trustees by mail of said letters addressed to your petitioner. That by the ordinary course of mail such letters and copies of petition will reach their destination in sixteen days from the date of the same

That your petitioner is informed and believes that the rights and powers of this court herein are to order and provide for the loan, and to make the same a prior lien, does not depend upon consent or any acknowledgment of anyone, but rests upon . . . .

ground existing in this honorable court, and that to do so in no way impairs the obligation of contracts, but that loans so made under such order would depend for their validity on an existing necessity, and that while it may be true that the said prior mortgages of the Oregonian Railway Company limited, would be entitled to their day in court, for the purpose of contesting the validity or effect of said receiver's certificates so issued, yet they could not be contested on the ground of want of consent or notice, but solely upon the ground of their being no necessity for their issuance in order to continue the operation and management of the said road, which view so expressed by your petitioner seems to have been the view entertained by the supreme court of the United States in the well considered case of the Union Trust Company vs The Illinois Midland Railway Company reported in 117 U S reports commencing at page 434 See also Wallace vs Loomis 97 U S 146 also Miltenberger vs Logansport Railway Company 106 U S, 286 311 312 Fosdick v Schall, 99 U S, 235 250 254 Burnham vs Bowen 111 U S, 776

And your petitioner further respectfully shows that at the time of filing the said former petition he hoped to have been able from the receipts of the road and after the liquidation of the indebtedness then required to be paid to have received from the traffic of the road sufficient money wherewith to have put the said road into a better condition of repair but that after the conclusion of the rainy season an examination of the said road has convinced him that without large and extensive repairs thereon it will be impossible longer to operate it and that to operate the same in its present condition is unsafe and dangerous That the whole of the said lines operated by your receiver need new ties in many and various places that most of the old ties originally laid down are decayed and rotten and such rotten and decayed ties need to be replaced with new sound ties, so as to render traffic and travel on said road safe expeditious and commodious, and that such repairs are imperatively necessary, and to be made before the rainy season shall supervene in order that the said road and traffic on said road may be continued This your petitioner estimates that 125 000 new ties will be necessary to place said road in repair That the cost of the labor and material in putting the said 125 000 new ties in the track will be, as nearly as your petitioner can estimate, $30 000, and may exceed that sum.

That extensive repairs are needed on the trestle or bridge near Whiteson station, on the line of said road owing to the fact that many of the timbers therein are old, decayed and rotten, and that such defective material in said structure will have to be replaced with new material That the trestle and Howe truss bridge over the Yamhill river near Lafayette and other smaller trestles and bridges on the line of said road will shortly require, or now require extensive repairs to be made thereon on account of the material thereof in places having become old decayed and rotten and unfit for use in said structures That as nearly as your petitioner can estimate the cost of placing the said trestles and bridges in a safe and serviceable condition for the traffic on said road will be about the sum of $20 000

And your petitioner further shows that since the filing of the petition and the making of the order hereinbefore referred to, the conditions respecting the management and operation of said railroad have not materially changed save that the defects in the ties on said road and the trestles and bridges thereon have become more apparent and that the cost of operating has exceeded the receipts from passengers and freight as will be apparent by reference to schedule B herein referred to and attached

That the board of railroad commissioners of the state, on the 15th day of February 1888, by letter addressed to your petitioner called his attention to the defective condition of said road, in respect to the ties thereon and requested your petitioner to have them replaced as speedily as possible with new ties.

That in view of the presentation of the present petition your petitioner has sent telegrams to the secretary of the Oregonian Railway Company, limited and the said trustees for the bondholders copies of which telegrams together with the answers received thereto by your petitioner, are herewith filed respectfully referred to and are marked Exhibits "C," "D," "E," and F

The your petitioner hopes to obtain the consent of the said trustees to the making of the loan herein prayed for, by cablegram within fifteen days from the date of the filing of this petition That the necessity for the loan herein asked is urgent, pressing and necessary that the former order upon the aforesaid petition herein referred to is made wherein to supply the necessary means even were the loan therein placed to continue the operation of said road

Wherefore your petitioner prays the facts considered, that the former order of this court authorizing said loan of $42 000 be vacated and set aside, and that your honors will be pleased to authorize and direct your receiver to negotiate a new loan for the sum of $125,000, and to issue receiver's certificates therefor at such rate of interest as may be authorized by your honors, for the payment of the indebtedness mentioned in said schedule 'B' hereto attached and for the purpose of purchasing the necessary ties and material, and doing the necessary labor to place said road trestles and bridges in repair and that the same be secured by a lien upon the property in charge of petitioner to be equal in degree with the lien of receiver's certificates heretofore issued, and prior to all other existing liens or incumbrances on the said road, and for such other and further order and decree as may be meet with law and justice and the necessities of the case. And as in duty bound your petitioner will ever pray CHAS N SCOTT Receiver

Schedule A consists of the former petition of Receiver Scott, and the order of Judge Deady authorizing him to borrow $42 000

Received at Portland Or May 21 1888

On the presentation of the petition the court stated that there was no doubt concerning the right to make the order as prayed for but for prudential reasons the judge thought it best to fix the hearing for Wednesday June 13, in order that all parties might if desired be heard

A NOTE FROM MR IRISH

PORTLAND MAY 7 1888

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Your publication of some personal misrepresentation and abuse of me from the Des Moines Register seems to make it necessary for your sake that I should enlarge the issue by adding to it some facts The words and phrases attributed to me were annually circulated in Iowa for nearly two decades It was known there that they were the rot and rant peculiar to a time of violent political passion and that they were printed in a starveling country paper from the pen of any partisan hysteric who sought relief that way

I long ago neutralized them by reproducing from the same paper articles written by myself which show that I stood with Douglass for the Union whether slavery go up or down I was a young fellow then and like most men who reach 40 if I could lay hands on myself as I was at 18 there are many follies for which I would like to kick myself but they are not recorded in the article to which you gave circulation

One fact more and I am done After this virus with which you attempt to vaccinate Oregon against me had been long before the people of Iowa I was elected trustee of the Soldiers' Orphans Home by a republican legislature served in that office acceptably to the people and left it with the compliments and regrets of my colleagues Col Horton, a Union soldier and Mr Watkins a leading republican

All these things are ancient history in Iowa and of but little interest to the people of Oregon You get what you have printed from a bitter personal enemy who has injured his health hating me and you know that such an enemy is not a good witness

JOHN P IRISH

What Mr Irish may have written and published years ago is not of much consequence save as it serves to show what the democratic party was in those days and therefore how unworthy it may still be The fact that he was the author of every expression attributed to him by the Iowa State Register the leading paper of that state we do not doubt—no one can doubt Mr Irish himself has not the hardihood to deny them, but inferentially admits that he did utter them He says that he was elected a trustee of the Soldiers Orphan Home The Iowa State Register says he was rejected for that post on account of his copperhead record

Denial by men like Mr Irish of their position and utterances during the great struggle for the Union is useless There is no occasion to add a falsehood to the original sin and we are glad to note that Mr Irish does not deny that he wrote what is attributed to him Undoubtedly he wrote those things In writing them he simply uttered the mind and spirit of his party With wider experience and with the issue before him he wouldn't do it now It is probable that by this time even General Beauregard wishes that his Beauty and Booty' proclamation had never been written

MR BARCLAY'S BONANZA

The Genial Pension Agent Not Quite Ready to Invest His $75,000 Prize

In view of the fact that numerous incredulous inquiries and communications have been received in Pittsburg concerning the truth of the good fortune of Mr W H Barclay the well known pension agent for the district of Western Pennsylvania in being the recipient of one half of the capital prize at the April drawing of the Louisiana state lottery which was drawn by ticket No 1,015 a Dispatch reporter visited the gentleman at his office on Third avenue yesterday afternoon

Mr Barclay looked prosperously happy and was perfectly willing to reassert the truth of the statement He said I purchased one half of ticket No 1,01 at Washington D C on the morning of the day the drawing took place, April 10 I was notified on the following Wednesday that that number had drawn the capital prize I never entertained the least doubt of getting the money and I consequently was not surprised when on the 24th of this month I received notice that $75,000 had been deposited to my credit in the First National bank of this city The full amount was there without an iota of discount

Mr Barclay takes his good fortune very modestly He says the receipt of the windfall was not attended by a particular sensation of elation nevertheless his demeanor is not that of one who has met with a financial loss The genial gentleman will continue to look after the wants of the old soldiers as heretofore He is in daily receipt of advice and propositions from those who are blessed with little of this world's goods and all anxious to get more, as to the best way of disposing of his newly gotten wealth but he is taking his leisure in the matter of looking out for a safe investment This is not the first piece of good fortune that has fallen to Mr Barclay, he having drawn $1000 in the same institution at the June drawing in 1886 —Pittsburg (Pa.) Dispatch, April 29.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Details of Matters Not Furnished By Telegraph.

Our River Interests—Will the Bill be Vetoed?—More About the Tillamook Indians—Unlawful Grazing on Indian Lands.

[Special Correspondence of The Oregonian]

WASHINGTON D C May 20 —On Wednesday of this week Senator Mitchell called up his bill making an appropriation for a final survey and estimates for the commencement of the construction of a boat-railway around the obstructions to navigation at The Dalles and Celilo falls in the Columbia river It appropriates half a million dollars After speeches by both Senators Mitchell and Dolph the bill was passed Senator Mitchell in his speech predicted that by the completion of a canal and locks at the Cascades and the completion of the proposed boat railway and accompanying improvements at The Dalles the freight charges will be reduced to at least one half of 1 per cent per ton per mile On an average haul therefore of about 200 miles to say nothing of through shipments the shipper of freight in Eastern Oregon Eastern Washington and Idaho would be relieved of a tax of about $5,000 000 annually Fearing that the bill when it goes to the house will not meet with favor at the hands of the leaders on the democratic side those who say what legislation shall have the right of way Senator Mitchell has given notice of an intention to move the bill as an amendment to the river and harbor bill Then it will be insisted upon in conference committee The friends of the river and harbor bill however are afraid that the bill will be vetoed The New York Times recently denounced the measure in violent terms after the manner of all the Eastern metropolitan journals whose harbors and rivers are already improved and do not need further attention from the national government It has been noticeable that the New York Times frequently echoes the feelings of the president upon questions of national interest and foreshadows his action touching legislation before congress There is danger therefore that he may refuse to sign the bill He will give vent to a wail about the surplus and the need of reducing it but will not hesitate to interpose a veto to a meritorious measure that reduces the surplus and at the same time relieves the commerce and navigation of the great West Representative Hermann in his tariff speech on Thursday plainly showed the sophistry of the administration in complaining of a surplus when the country has no coast defenses and when its rivers and harbors are so much in need of improvement

THE TILLAMOOKS

Mention was made in a recent letter of an effort to learn by inquiry of the Indian bureau the location of the reservation of the Tillamook Indians in Oregon and how they came to relinquish their claim Commissioner Atkins could give no satisfactory answer He has just sent another letter to the senate in which he states that after his former response he discovered two unratified treaties among the files of the bureau which treaties give the boundaries of the land claimed by the Tillamooks Both treaties were made at Tansey point on the Columbia river, near Clatsop plains between Anson Dart superintendent of Indian affairs and others on the part of the United States, and the chiefs and head men of the Tillamook tribe In the first treaty with the Naalem band dated August 6th 1851 the reservation is bounded as follows

Beginning at the mouth of a certain stream called the Yock lespahta and running thence along the coast of the Pacific ocean in a southerly direction to a certain point of rocks south of the Naalem river which point of rocks is claimed as the southwest corner of lands belonging to said band thence east to the summit of the Coast range of mountains thence northerly following said range of mountains to the southern boundary of land lately claimed by the Clatsop tribe of Indians thence westerly following said southern boundary of the Clatsops to the headwaters of the Yock lespahta thence down and along said stream to the place of beginning The above described land being all that is claimed by the said band of Tillamook Indians The said band reserve to themselves the privilege of occupying for the purpose of fishing two small spots of ground sufficient for building upon and for their horses to graze upon one to be at the mouth and on the north side of the Naalem river and the other at or near the rapids on the north fork of said river together with the privilege of passing freely between these two places, along the river

The second treaty dated the day after that from which the above extract is taken describes the boundaries of the reservation a little differently

Beginning at the point of rocks claimed as the southwestern corner of lands lately owned by the Naalem band of Tillamooks on the coast of the Pacific ocean running thence southerly along said coast to the south side of the first headland north of the Nestucca river thence east to the summit of the Coast Range of mountains thence northerly along the summit of said range to the southern boundary of land lately claimed by said Nehalem band thence westerly, following their said southern boundary to the place of beginning, the above described land being all that is claimed by the said tribe of Tillamook Indians The said tribe reserve to themselves the privilege of occupying for the purpose of fishing two small spots of ground sufficient for building their houses upon and for their horses to graze upon, one to be at the mouth and on the west or side of the Nechurst river the other near the headwaters of the Tallerish river

TIMBER DEPREDATIONS

A house bill to amend the Revised Statutes in relation to timber depredations is of interest to the readers of THE OREGONIAN It provides that every person who unlawfully cuts or aids or is employed in unlawfully cutting or wantonly destroys or procures to be wantonly destroyed, any timber standing upon the lands of the United States which in pursuance of law may be reserved or purchased for military or other purposes or upon any Indian reservation or lands belonging to or occupied by any tribe of Indians under authority of the United States shall pay a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or be imprisoned not more than twelve months or both at the discretion of the court The bill has been passed by both houses of congress and now goes to the president for his signature

THE HOLLADAY HOUSE SALE

The old house of Ben Holladay in this city was sold on Wednesday last for $30,500, nearly $15 000 less than it cost the original owner This is due in part to the fact that the building is what might be termed old fashioned and would cost considerable to remodel it to make it conform to modern ideas of architecture It would perhaps be cheaper to tear it down and build anew The price obtained for the property was probably about what the land itself would bring The furnishings of the house were sold for about one fourth their original cost The parlor furniture will hereafter be found at the Mexican legation The Mexican minister paid $650 for it The paintings and sculpture so highly valued by their former owner will be scattered all over the city

Doubtless in the throng which filled the house at the sale were many who recalled the brilliant events which took place under that roof for Ben Holladay was a prince among entertainers He gave good dinners and possibly some of his guests have never been so royally treated since if one may judge of their lamentations respecting those happy days that have gone

UNLAWFUL GRAZING ON INDIAN LANDS

The senate has passed with slight verbal amendments a bill passed by the house to protect lands belonging to Indians from unlawful grazing It provides that every person who drives or allows a stock of horses mules or cattle to range and feed on lands belonging to any Indian or Indian tribe without the consent of the Indians shall pay a penalty of $1 for each animal that penalty to be recovered in a civil suit The penalty less the cost and 10 per cent of the amount recovered is to go to the credit of the Indians themselves or to the individual Indian where there is but one occupant of the land It is provided however that all leases or agreements made hitherto with Indians for grazing purposes shall stand

GRANTING A RIGHT OF WAY

The senate committee on Indian affairs has reported favorably a bill to grant to the Puyallup Valley Railway Company a right of way through the Puyallup Indian reservation in Washington territory It is provided that the consent of the Indians must be obtained before the railway shall be constructed and full compensation be made for all property taken or damage done by reason of the construction of the road. The railroad company is required to build its entire line through the reservation within two years after the passage of the act or the grant shall be forfeited as to that portion not built.

Mrs. Senator Dolph will go to Oregon at the close of the present session of congress

That Tired Feeling

Is experienced by almost everyone at this season and many people resort to Hood's Sarsaparilla to drive away the languor and exhaustion The blood is laden with impurities the mind fails to think quickly and the body is still slower to respond Hood's Sarsaparilla is just what is needed It overcomes that tired feeling purifies and enriches the blood makes the head clear creates an appetite and tones the nervous system

Last spring I was completely fagged out My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it cured me There is nothing like it " R C BEGOLE Editor Enterprise Belleville Mich

As a headline in advertising is entirely original with Hood's Sarsaparilla its use having been suggested by a testimonial from a Boston lady who had been cured of that tired feeling' and made like a new woman' by this excellent medicine As a remedy for weakness or debility caused by change of season climate or life Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled

My appetite was poor I could not sleep had headache a great deal pains in my back my bowels did not move regularly Hood's Sarsaparilla in a short time did me so much good that I feel like a new man My pains and aches are relieved my appetite improved GEORGE F JACKSON Roxbury Station Conn

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the ideal spring medicine It rouses the kidneys and liver and tones the digestive organs creates an appetite purifies and vitalizes the impure and sluggish blood cures the headache and overcomes all the prostrating effects of that tired feeling Mr G W Sloan of Milton Mass writes For five years I was sick every spring, but last year began in February to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and have not been sick a day since

I take Hood's Sarsaparilla and find it the best medicine for the blood I ever tried Large quantities of it are sold in this vicinity As a blood purifier and a spring tonic it stands ahead of all others H N PHILLIPS Editor Sentinel Advertiser Hope Valley R I

My wife suffered from sick headache and neuralgia After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla she was much relieved W R BABB Wilmington Ohio

Is carefully prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion Mandrake Dock Pipsissewa Juniper Berries and other well known vegetable remedies in such a peculiar manner as to derive the full medicinal value of each It will cure when in the power of medicine scrofula salt rheum sores boils pimples all humors dyspepsia biliousness sick headache indigestion general debility catarrh rheumatism kidney and liver complaints

I have taken not quite a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and I must say it is one of the best medicines for giving an appetite purifying the blood and regulating the digestive organs that I ever heard of It did me a great deal of good MRS N A STANLEY Canastota N Y

Hood's Sarsaparilla gave me new life and restored me to my wonted health and strength " WILLIAM H CLOUGH Tilton N H

Makes the Weak Strong.

I never took any medicine that did me so much good in so short a time as Hood's Sarsaparilla I was very much run down had no strength no energy and felt very tired all the time I can conscientiously recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla and before I had used one bottle I felt like a different person That extreme tired feeling has gone my appetite returned and it toned me up generally CLARA W PHILLIPS Shirley Mass

I must say Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I ever used Last spring I had no appetite and the least work I did fatigued me ever so much I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon I felt as though I could do as much in a day as I had formerly done in a week My appetite is voracious MRS M V BAYARD Atlantic City N J

Feeling languid and dizzy having no appetite and no ambition to work I took Hood's Sarsaparilla with the best results As a health invigorator and for general debility I think it superior to anything else A A RIKER Utica N Y

I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good thing I was severely troubled with biliousness and thought I would try Hood's Sarsaparilla When I had taken half a bottle I noticed a big change for the better and after taking two bottles I consider myself entirely cured I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla will do all that is claimed for it J B SMITH Collector for Bell Telephone Co 75 East Main street Rochester N Y

N B —If you have decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other

PORTLAND, MONDAY, MAY 28.

THE ANACHRONISTIC ABSTRACTION

Col Effinger's letter does not throw much light upon his contention that protection is unconstitutional The point he makes is so fine as to be almost invisible Historically, the statement of THE OREGONIAN as to the origin of this notion is entirely correct, namely, that the notion was invented by the state sovereignty secession democracy of the South as an argument to support their demands for free trade after the growth of cotton planting and the enormous development of the slave system had made free trade desirable to them Col Effinger finds that Mr Polk was an advocate of the doctrine that a tariff having protection for its primary object was unconstitutional but this only confirms THE OREGONIAN'S statement as to the origin of the doctrine since Mr Polk had no significance whatever except as an agent and servant of those whose whole political system centered in the extension and perpetuation of slavery, and who therefore, were compelled to invent theories and manufacture arguments for support of all parts of the system on which slavery depended for profitable existence The first effort the South made to dissolve the Union was on this plea against protection, but the crisis was averted, partly through the energy of Gen Jackson, and partly through surrender on the tariff question to Southern demands. When this argument on the tariff would no longer serve the purpose, a new pretext for secession was sought in resistance to the extension of slavery, and upon this issue the great rebellion was precipitated. The argument against the constitutionality of protection never had any real vitality except as an argument in support of the system that slavery created It is now a useless abstraction, and even the South itself no longer cares for it.

Col. Effinger finds that Calhoun, who had supported a protective tariff bill in 1816 was an opponent of protection, on constitutional grounds in 1832. Here again is confirmation of THE OREGONIAN'S statement as to the rise of this doctrine Whitney's cotton gin, though invented and in use before 1816 had not yet produced its wonderful effects upon the industrial system of the South. Slavery, before the cotton gin came into general use, was a dying institution The cotton gin revived it, made it strong and powerful, and cotton, its representative, assumed to be king of the nation The increased production of cotton made an enormous demand for slave labor in the preparation of the soil, in the ingathering of the harvest and the preparation of it for market Its effects upon the industrial pursuits, as well as upon the moral and intellectual condition of the people in the slave states is among the most astonishing phenomena of history In the cotton states it opened a boundless market for slaves, the "border" states became a universal breeding ground for slaves for the Southern market and the political system founded upon this hideous immorality, this dreadful negation of the principles of humanity and civilization, dominated the democratic party interpreted the constitution, and made the laws of the country The Yankee schoolmaster's cotton gin changed the constitutional views of Mr Calhoun, built up a system in the South that could beat the world in production of cotton, and therefore wanted free importation of manufactured goods, and revived the Jeffersonian dogma that the constitution of the United States did not create a nation, but only a league of states from which league any member might upon its own judgment withdraw Historically, therefore, the plea against the constitutional power of congress to lay duties on foreign goods for protection of domestic products is as much a part of the great rebellion as Jefferson's resolutions of '98 and Col. Effinger's argument, without good foundation at first, is now merely an anachronism But as an argument for support of the system that slavery required it never would have been heard of, and, as a mere abstraction, it never can be revived as a potential question

It is a mere abstraction because, while it is universally admitted that congress may levy duties on importations, it is wholly impossible to define in any law where duties merely for revenue cease and duties for protection begin So that, even if it be admitted that congress has no just right or constitutional power to impose a duty having protection as its primary object, the definition would escape all effort to give it fixity and precision The discussion therefore is wholly unprofitable—quite as much so as Gov Pennoyer's discourses on silver, poverty and the powers of the judiciary A common abstraction is profitless enough, but there are depths below depths in the space and emptiness of idle speculation, till the anachronistic abstraction is reached, which seems to be about the lowest depth in those infinite abysses that contain the sightless, impalpable inane

"AMEND THE MILLS BILL"

This is the call of the Chicago Tribune a paper that has steadily advocated reduction of the tariff, as THE OREGONIAN has done but which, like THE OREGONIAN urges that the reduction should be just, equal and fair

Democratic papers of Oregon have reprinted many pieces from the Chicago Tribune in favor of tariff reduction The Tribune is a favorite paper with them Here is something from the Tribune of Wednesday which however, will not appear in their columns viz

"As the Mills bill stands now it is not a fit measure to be adopted No republican could be expected to vote for it in its present form The scores of amendments proposed to it in the democratic caucus show that as a whole it is far from acceptable even to the democratic side To say nothing of its sectional discriminations and the failure to give the North equal advantages with the South reducing rates and free listing raw material some of the broadest provisions of the bill are ill-adjusted and will not give the people the benefit they promise Thus the cheapening of unrefined sugars while making an insignificant reduction on the refined article will simply give the sugar trusts its raw material at a cheaper rate and still keep a high duty on the refined imported sugars suited to immediate use—the kind which must be cheapened if the robber monopoly is to be broken Who supposes that if raw material is cheapened to the trust the public will get lower rates on refined sugar? The purpose of the trust is to prevent anything of the sort The same defect appears in the wool schedules While raw wool is made free the protective tax on many kinds of woolen goods is actually advanced although the duties on woolens now average 68 per cent Such tariff changes as these benefit manufacturers, not consumers—millionaires and not the masses

The republicans of the house have now wisely determined to make a concerted effort to secure proper amendment of the Mills bill In their caucus on Saturday they resolved that the bill be taken up and considered in committee of the whole under the five minutes rule, section by section and paragraph by paragraph The rules of the house give them this right, and under the rules efforts will be made to correct the inequalities of the bill at all points This course will either secure proper amendment of the bill, or, if it does not, will put every member of the house on the record, upon each and every part of it.

Readers of the younger sort who are shocked by reproduction of the sentiments uttered by John P. Irish twenty years ago may be assured that the sentiments of Irish at that time were the sentiments of his party These utterances are a faithful representation of the party democracy of that day Similar ones were heard in Oregon and in every Northern state Irish was no worse than the bulk of his party While the soldiers of the Union were fighting the rebels in front, a million malignants like Irish kept up this fire in the rear—denouncing the prosecution of the war, calling Lincoln a bloody tyrant and Grant a horrible butcher insisting on the maintenance and perpetuation of slavery, and calling for surrender of the country to the Confederacy of the South These men got the name of copperheads It was given them as an odious designation and they deserved it

THE DEMOCRATIC DIFFICULTY

Under the caption The Democratic Difficulty' the Boston Herald the ablest mugwump paper at the East, points out that while the democrats are sure to renominate Cleveland 'they are by no means without their difficulties in entering the campaign " Among their difficulties the Herald names the bitter Gray McDonald quarrel in Indiana which threatens the loss of that doubtful state, if Governor Gray should be selected as candidate for the second place on the ticket. Governor Hill of New York is smarting to-day under a severe snubbing at the hands of the Cleveland party and is likely to make mischief unless he can be controlled In Connecticut the administration office holders have deeply offended the Irish democrats and the protection democrats and a serious defection in their ranks is threatened so that it will be more difficult for the democracy to carry Connecticut than it was four years ago The same is true of New Jersey, a great manufacturing state where the democrats are as much committed to protection as the republicans The New Jersey democracy are also badly split up by the bitter factional quarrel between United States Senator Blodgett and ex Governor Leon Abbett The Herald warns its Cleveland friends that ' it will be no holiday work for the democracy to carry either Connecticut or New Jersey ' The shameful management of the state finances by the democratic party the ' tally sheet forgery' conspiracy and the burlesque of civil service reform by the federal office holders and Cleveland congressmen have greatly weakened the hold of the democracy upon Indiana That popular suave adroit political manager, Hendricks is dead and Voorhees's recent discomfiture by Ingalls has tended to drive the new voters who are intelligent enough to be patriotic away from a party in which as Corporal Tanner sarcastically observes the penalty of treason is an appointment to a first class foreign mission ' Since the American flag is represented to-day in all the leading courts of Europe either by confederates like McLane and Lawton who tried to shoot the colors from the staff or by copperheads like Pendleton and Phelps who tried to saw off the staff when Lincoln's eyes were busy at the front The democracy carried New York in 1887 by a plurality of 16 000 but if Hill should determine to sulk in his tent that plurality would be reduced by at least 10 000 Gov Hill s self abnegation may not extend to the forgiveness of injuries and it will take something more than a small plaster to heal his big wound In this respect he is like Dr Bond whom Sidney Smith described when he said that it is a mistake to think that Dr Bond could be influenced by partridges He is a man of very independent mind, with whom pheasants at least or perhaps even turkeys are necessary " Furthermore the Irish American voters in New York see in the recent utterances of Mayor Hewitt an outbreak of the old time democratic disease of Know Nothingism " We say old time democratic disease advisedly for it was a bitter pro-slavery democrat, Erastus Brooks, who with his brother James Brooks, used the New York Express to organize the "Native American ' movement in 1854-56. That movement has been correctly described as in the nature of a democratic revolt " "America for the Americans" was the cry under the stimulus of which the democratic roughs of the democratic cities of Baltimore, Louisville, and St Louis murdered and maltreated the Irish and nearly a half a million of democrats in slave holding states seceded from the regular democratic organization and joined the American party In 1856 the democratic state of Maryland cast a majority vote for the "know nothing candidate The 'know nothing ' vote in the republican states was small. Maine never polled quite 4000 votes for that party but in 1856 the democratic South gave Fillmore, the know nothing candidate for president, 479,465 votes while the total vote cast for John C Fremont, the republican candidate, in all these slaveholding states was only 1194 In 1861 the know nothing party, 479,465 strong, of which our present minister to England was a member was absorbed by the democratic party North and South The Irish Americans of New York suspect that there is to be a revival of know nothingism and quote the utterances of Mayor Hewitt and the tone of the mugwump press in support of their suspicion Should that suspicion be increased the New York democracy would lose 20,000 votes, at least in the great cities

THE SUPERVISORS.

The application for the appointment of federal supervisors of elections was dictated by a spirit of respect for the purity of the ballot box that deserves congratulation in every community Oregon is without a registry law and without such a law the ease with which the ballot box can be illegally invaded is a standing invitation to its defilement The purity of the elections in the large towns of the state whether justly or unjustly has been privately impeached and no good citizen of either party will be disposed to neglect any legal precaution to place our elections above suspicion of fraud Of course reckless partisan demagogues never lose a chance to inveigh against the presence of ' federal hirelings ' at the polls Such kind of talk might attract attention at the South but in any Northern State respectable citizens will not refuse their support to the invocation of all legal safe guards for the purity of the ballot box

Evil to them who evil think Is the natural judgment when the people read a partisan protest against the efforts of good citizens to save as far as legally possible our elections from the scandal or suspicion of fraud No honest man wants anybody to vote who is not a legal voter no honest man wants to vote more than once, nor wants his vote counted twice

GRESHAM

There is rapid concentration of republican sentiment upon Gresham for the presidency Eastern journals of all shades of politics note it The New York Times, though a worshipper of Cleveland says It is well to talk of the spontaneous movement for Judge Gresham It is an honest and manly attempt to secure an honest and worthy candidate for the party For no other man is there a growing sentiment The Springfield (Mass) Republican, also an administration paper notes the movement towards Gresham and says 'One candidacy alone grows in numerical strength and moral power Amid the decay of party leadership at the East there is a new manifestation of sober deliberation and uplifting impulse in the West and Northwest which may exercise a controlling influence at Chicago The men who call for Gresham ask for a candidate whose prospects for election would be good They demand to know whether this man who entered the army as a private and came out a general, who is a wise judge, a clean and positive personality, whose views as to tariff revision are said to be moderate and in harmony with the declarations of the party who served in Arthur s cabinet and so knows Washington, who is calculated to antagonize no faction and is in all these things qualified to serve the country honestly and well—whether such a one is not the leader that the party needs at this time and whether a nomination of this character is not absolutely necessary to make victory possible this year "

ELECTION AND RE-ELECTION

Hermann is now a candidate for a third term in congress The Jacksonville Times says the people of Oregon never elected the same man to congress more than twice hence it concludes they will not elect Hermann this time

Is experience in congress then a disqualification? This can scarcely be maintained To experience Hermann adds close attention to the wants of Oregon, and ceaseless industry in working for her interests He has moreover, been fairly successful No representative that Oregon ever sent has been more so What does his election for a second term, what does his nomination for a third term, mean? Simply that his work in congress has been fairly satisfactory Had it not been, he would have dropped out

It is true that the people of Oregon have never yet elected the same man to congress more than twice It is also true that they never elected any democrat more than once We leave the democratic brother to struggle with this fact Perhaps he may be able to pluck the heart out of its mystery

All the delegates to the republican national convention have now been chosen Of the whole it is estimated that 350 are instructed for Blaine John Sherman has about 250 delegates instructed for him while General Gresham can probably count upon about 100 delegates at the start The convention is composed of 820 delegates and 411 votes are necessary to nominate After the first ballot Wisconsin will cast her twenty two votes for Gresham The Milwaukee Sentinel quotes a leading republican as saying with Gresham as its candidate the party can take the offensive in the coming campaign There will be no fire in the rear to guard against as in the Blaine campaign The St Paul Dispatch regards Blaine s letter as final and believes it was the first paper in the country to recognize that ' the logic of the situation on Mr Blaine s retirement demanded the advancement of Judge Gresham " Colorado s vote, according to ex Senator Tabor s belief will be divided on the first ballot between Allison and Gresham Some state convention delegates are pledged to the latter

The best hope for Gresham is the expectation that Indiana Iowa Michigan, Missouri Kansas and Nebraska may come to his support If they do not, why of course the Blaine or bust managers will easily nominate their favorite

At Jackson, Miss on the 25th inst 10 000 persons witnessed the laying of the corner stone of the Confederate monument Jeff Davis who helped lay the corner stone of the Confederacy was expected to be present to salute its tombstone, but his health did not permit of his attendance so he appeared by proxy in his daughter Miss Winnie Davis who appears to be the Child of the Confederate Regiment at present Miss Davis was presented with a silver crown to be given to her father While this tomfoolery continues to prevail at the South probably Miss Davis will not marry she will continue to pose as the Daughter of the Southern Confederacy until the Southern people find some more valuable earth enriching wealth-winning industry than erecting tombstones over a dead 'republic" that deserved to be stabbed to death for organizing an insult to the decent opinions of mankind by launching the ark of human slavery in the name of popular liberty and ' home rule ' Davis wearing a silver crown is about as venerable and popular a figure as ' Death on a pale horse '

The New York Sun although a democratic paper, thinks the interests of the country would be subserved by the defeat of Cleveland But it does not believe he can be defeated by Blaine No wonder " it says "that the Cleveland men are so earnest in their assertions that Blaine will be the republican candidate The wish is the father to the belief If Blaine should accept the republican nomination the measure of Mr Cleveland's luck would be full and running over He would have a walkover, and there would be very little interest in the election '

The senate has put into the river and harbor bill needful additions to the amounts proposed by the house Among the increased amounts those for the rivers and harbors of Oregon have a prominent place But there is reason to believe that Cleveland will veto the bill Our letter from Washington this morning indicates that there is ground for this apprehension

The democratic party has knocked the bottom out of the wool market, but claims to feel fine itself There will be a correct diagnosis of the patient's condition later

Donnelly s book isn't selling in England at all The author attributes this to the limited knowledge possessed by the English people of Shakespeare s works

The magical cure of colds and coughs, with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is indisputable As a family medicine it is unequaled

IN AND ABOUT PORTLAND.

APPROACHING COMPLETION.—The south end of the draw span of the railroad bridge is completed. The finishing touches were put on the central panel Saturday and the traveling erector moved over to the south end and if nothing happens the draw will be completed in two or three days. Piles are being driven for the railroad approach on the west side. It is the intention to finish the approaches to the bridge so that trains can cross as soon as possible, and the work of filling Couch lake be begun and the necessity of running a transfer boat be avoided. A great deal more of the bank on the east side is to be removed in order to allow the track on that side to make the desired curve in approaching the bridge but for the present the road will be used with a sharp curve. The machinery for turning the draw is being set up by men sent out from the Vulcan Iron Works Chicago where the machinery was made and by the time the approaches are finished the bridge will be in order for trains to pass. It will be some time before the wagon roadway will be completed.

DELEGATE MARKLAND'S DEPARTURE.—Mr R D Markland of THE OREGONIAN composing rooms will leave to-day for Kansas City where he goes to attend the meeting of the International Typographical Union. He was chosen as a delegate to represent the Multnomah Typographical Union and goes East in that capacity. The thirtieth annual session of the International Typographical Union will convene at Kansas City June 11 and will be in session some days. Mr Markland is one of the oldest typos on THE OREGONIAN having continuously held a case for the past fifteen years and is among the swiftest and most accurate manipulators of antimony among the craft. Mr Markland is a native of the great and good old state of Missouri where his mother and other relatives reside. After the adjournment of the session he will revisit the scenes of his boyhood days for the first time in seventeen years. His many friends in and out of the fraternity of the stick and rule will join in wishing Mr Markland a pleasant journey and safe return.

COMPANY G IS READY.—So far as heard from not one militia company on the Pacific coast dares meet Company G of Portland in competitive drill. For some time Capt T C Farrar has been carrying a chip on his shoulder with $1000 where he can easily reach it but nary a match can be arranged. All sorts of inducement were made to the companies of the crack First and Second regiments C N G of San Francisco and to the Seattle Rifles but not one will come to the front. "Company G is in fine trim," said Capt Farrar to a reporter the other day, "and is ready to drill any company on the coast particularly from San Francisco and Seattle at any time and with any number of men. If the Seattle Rifles had downed us in the drill at the pavilion we never would have allowed them to rest until we had either defeated them or something worse had happened. They do not seem to have that spirit else they would have challenged us long ago. Co G is ready to meet any company on the coast for $1000 a side."

ARRESTED FOR FAST DRIVING.—Yesterday two young men applied at Magoon's stable for riding horses but as they appeared to be under the influence of liquor they were not allowed to have them. They went to a down town hotel and telephoned to the stables for horses and the animals were sent down. The young men amused themselves in riding around till after 9 o'clock in the evening when they started to run a race down First street. At the corner of Pine and First they were arrested by policeman James and taken to the jail where they gave their names as B S Emery and E Edin and on furnishing bail for their appearance were allowed to go home at a canter.

CONSUMERS OF SALMON.—The baby seal recently added to the free menagerie on Morrison street has seemed content to bask in the sun eat the salmon given it and whine for more. Saturday however it seemed to wake up to the exigencies of life, and concluded it had to hustle, so it rolled into the tank and started to catch one of the fish and the way the pair went round the tank was a caution to all observers. The seal weighs only ten pounds, but it eats four pounds of salmon per day and looks around for more. From this a slight idea may be formed of the amount of salmon consumed by the thousands of seal and hundreds of sea lions which haunt the mouth of the Columbia and it would seem that while the legislature and the United States government are endeavoring to keep up the supply of salmon in the Columbia by means of a hatchery they might help the matter by taking some steps to exterminate the seal and sea lions.

MANAGER HOWE RETURNED.—Mr J P Howe accompanied by his wife and son returned yesterday from their Puget Sound trip. Mr Howe having been attending in person to the management of the Juvenile opera company. Their engagement with Mr Howe is now closed and all have returned to San Francisco with the exception of Mr T Wilmot Eckert and his daughter who will remain in Portland. Mr Eckert will take the leadership of the New Park theater orchestra during the summer and patrons of the theater may confidently expect to listen to some good music between the acts during the present season. Mr Howe reports the business of the Juveniles to have been phenomenal crowded houses greeting them at every point. No company visiting the Northwest in years has been so great an artistic and financial success.

EASTERN VISITORS.—F F Winslow president of the St Louis and San Francisco Railroad Company, Gen Horace Porter vice president of the Pullman Palace Car Company, Mr and Mrs Wm Amory of Boston, Mr and Mrs W L Frost of Boston and Miss Andrews also from the hub arrived here yesterday from San Francisco in a special car. These visitors will leave to-day for Tacoma. They will also visit Seattle and Victoria, and return east via the Northern Pacific railroad going over the switch back or through the tunnel.

GERMAN LECTURE.—Frau Hedwig Henrich Wilhelmie delivered her first lecture last night, "Wissenschaftlicher und Littlicher Materialismus," under the auspices of the Social Turn Verein. The lady treated the subject in an admirable and scientific manner and before an intellectual and attentive audience. To-night's subject is "Der Mensch das Produkt seiner Erziehung." Seats free. Mrs Wilhelmie is a noted literary lady of Mayence Germany who is making a tour of this country.

FIRST EXCURSION TO ALASKA.—The Raymond and Whitcomb excursion party which arrived Saturday will leave this morning for The Dalles to take in the Columbia river scenery. To-morrow they will return and leave for the Sound whence most of them will take passage for Alaska June 1. This will be the first excursion party to go to Alaska this season.

INSTANTANEOUS VIEWS.—The only successful instantaneous view made of the steamer Hassalo as she passed through the rapids can be had at Thwaite's gallery 167 and 169 First street.

LOCAL NOTES

Wild strawberries are ripe.

Yesterday a new time schedule went into effect on the Northern Pacific. Hereafter the east bound train via the tunnel will leave Portland at 2 A M and arrive at 1 05 A M.

Rev J Q A Henry pastor of the First Baptist church has written to the board of trustees that he will be here in time to resume his pastorate on the second Sunday in June. Rev Mr Henry has been absent nine months.

Nearly 1000 people attended the picnic of the Stevedores' Longshoremen's and Riggers' union to Columbia grove yesterday. The steamer S G Reed and a barge left Ash street dock at 9 30 A M. When the boat and barge returned last night several persons who were in a hurry to get ashore made a misstep and fell into the river. They were rescued.

The woman who wanted to be queen of America called at the police station yesterday morning per agreement to receive her crown. She persisted in hanging around until the coronation took place, and it was only by telling her that such an event could not take place on an unofficial day that the officers got rid of her. The woman has been committed twice to the insane asylum.

Purchase your tickets and reserve your sleeping car accommodation at No. 2 Washington street, office Northern Pacific Railroad.

New goods for the season just opened. Nicoll the tailor, 126 First street.

A BEAUTIFUL TRIP

Captain Troup Tells How the Hassalo Shot the Rapids

All day yesterday the steamer Hassalo which shot the rapids Saturday was moored at the foot of A street and was inspected and admired by hundreds of people. Workmen are engaged in finishing the fresh water tanks in the hole and the sound of the hammer was the predominant one. An examination of the steamer showed that it sustained not the least bit of damage by its perilous trip. To-day the Hassalo will go to Oregon City where she will be put in the dry dock and overhauled and painted. As soon as the repairs are made she will be taken around to Puget sound for service. Who will take her is not yet known. Speaking about Saturday's trip, Capt J W Troup who commanded the Hassalo said yesterday:

This made my third trip over the rapids and I must say that the Hassalo stood the plunge better than any boat that has yet shot down the surging waters. The Idaho was roughly handled, and so was the Mountain Queen but the Hassalo was not hurt in the least. She worked splendidly, went just where I wanted her to, struck the channel exactly and never grounded nor struck a rock. Being a staunch little sea boat she shipped very little water. The boat whizzed past the place where the people were standing so fast that we could not concentrate our eyes on a person long enough to distinguish who he was. We made the run from the upper landing to Portland a distance of sixty two miles in three hours exclusive of stops which consumed an hour. The first stop was made at Bonneville. A stop was also made at Warrendale where the passengers on the boat inspected the salmon cannery.

Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr and wife and George O Shattuck of Boston who enjoyed the trip on the Hassalo to Portland were highly pleased with the novelty of the journey and beauty of the scenery. They say that in their travels in Europe they had never seen anything to equal it in extent or grandeur. They said they would always remember with pleasure their perilous ride.

ABOUT SMELTING ORES

The Smelter at Ketchum Closed Down. Why Some Do Not Prove Profitable

Several years ago the Philadelphia and Idaho Mining Company was organized in the great city of brotherly love. This company was composed of a number of wealthy men and the syndicate had a very large capital to back the enterprise. Extensive mining property was purchased in the Wood river country and a great deal of capital was expended in operating the golden interests. Soon after a large smelter was erected at Ketchum. This was a very expensive smelting establishment and cost the company about half a million. The smelter was operated for a time but without any profit until finally the company concluded to close it down. This was done some time ago and the extensive plant has since remained idle. Since closing the smelter the company has confined its scope of operations entirely to getting out ore. The product of the mines is being shipped to Portland Denver and Omaha where a ready and profitable sale is found. Unless the prospect improve it is quite probable that the company will abandon the purpose of attempting to operate the smelting establishment in connection with their mining interests.

The closing down of the Ketchum smelter may be cited as an illustration of two important facts: first that the effort to construct and maintain a large smelting establishment in the mountains and in the midst of mining camps rarely meets with success and, second the attempt to operate a smelter in immediate conjunction with mining interests does not amalgamate in a general sense, and fails to prove remunerative. The exceptions to this general principle it is claimed are rare. At Viola Idaho there seems to be an exception to the rule. At that point there is a small smelter which is operated to profit. But the ores are self fluxing which is the explanation of how and why the smelter is operated profitably. All that is necessary at Viola is to haul the fuel and no difficulty is encountered in smelting self fluxing ores.

LIVELY WOOD HANDLING

CHENOWITH, W T May 26

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Two men, Charles Myers and William Kennedy employed in G W Weidler & Co's cordwood camp here started out Saturday May 5th to do a big day's work. With one pair of horses they handled and piled on the flume 33½ cords of wood. They drove one mile to work and back at noon and unexpectedly the team had to go three miles to the river after dinner and did not get back to work until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This made the handling of 67 cords of wood in a regular day's work of 10 hours less the 2½ hours that it took the team to go to the river. If any two men can show a better record I should like to hear of them.

GOOD NEWS FOR ALBINA

The Machine Shops to Open Immediately—A Contract for 400 Cars—100 Additional Men to be Employed

Albina Courier

The people of Albina have been deceived so many times by false reports that have been put in circulation to the effect that the shops would open for business that when the report was again set in motion on the street last Thursday there were very few who would believe it. The writer however has chased the rumor down to headquarters and finds that this time it is true. A contract has been secured from the O R & N Co for the building of 400 box cars and work is to begin as soon as the machinery can be limbered up for business and the car wheels which are now on the way arrive. Yesterday the large transfer table which will be used in transferring cars from one shop to another was tested and found to be in good working order. Machinists are busy touching up the various tools and getting everything in readiness. The contract will call for the employment of 100 more men and will give them employment for five or six months. This will swell the pay roll $8000 or $9000 per month and make the total of men employed over [illegible]00 in number. Master Mechanic D F McLauchlin being interviewed said:

Yes the report is true. Mr Boggs foreman of the car department and I have just returned from The Dalles where we have been to get the plans specifications etc for the cars. We will employ 100 additional men and will open the main shops as soon as we can get them ready. The repair shops will be kept open the same as at present. We will get out 400 or more cars.

All persons interested in the collection of pictures and especially of the folding cards representing the living rulers, flags and coats of arms of all the nations of the world will be pleased to learn that Duke Sons & Co are about to issue an album containing the complete collection which embraces fifty different countries. This album is as beautiful, interesting and unique a publication as was ever presented to the public, and will be delivered to every one who returns seventy-five folders unsoiled (same as taken from the recent boxes of Duke Cameo Cigarettes). The albums will be delivered on and after April 15 and until further notice on receipt of the folders with full address of parties returning such. Address W Duke Sons & Co First avenue and Twenty-ninth street New York. This is certainly a liberal offer and one that will be appreciated by the public. Those who are saving their empty Cameo boxes for the purpose of securing one of the magnificent pictures of Langtry or Theo are reminded that the folders from such boxes will secure to them an album also.

A FINE HOTEL PROPERTY AT AUCTION

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1888,

—THE—

St. Charles Hotel

PROPERTY AND FURNITURE,

PORTLAND,

Will be sold at auction to settle up an estate. The property consists of a quarter of a block of land and a

Three-Story Fire-Proof Building and a Two-Story Residence.

It is on the main business street of the city two blocks from the new railroad depot and is considered the most favorably located hotel in Portland. The location is such that its rapid enhancement in value is certain.

The house can be kept crowded with first-class guests without bus or runners. As a speculation, this is a rare opportunity. As an investment it is certain of large interest returns. As a location for business it is one of the choicest in Portland. The building is comparatively new having been erected five years ago. A brick and cemented basement extends the full size of the building. Terms of sale, one-half cash balance on long time.

A REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

Attitude of the Party on Important Measures.

PENSIONS, EDUCATION AND TARIFF.

An Effort to Place the Democrats at a Disadvantage—Opposition to the Proposition Submitted by Chairman Mills.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The house adjourned at 1:05, and the republican members immediately held a caucus.

Up to this time (2:30 P. M.) the republican house caucus has confined itself to a discussion of the general policy of the party. Representative Hovey, of Indiana, made a speech earnestly urging the republicans to combine in an effort to force the democrats to take a decided stand on pension legislation. As part of his plan he urged that the bill to remove restrictions upon the payment of arrears of pensions be made a party issue, if possible, and that the democrats be placed in the position of antagonizing this and other pension bills by refusing consideration for them.

Hovey's remarks were well received and led to a number of other suggestions in the same line.

The tariff question has not yet been specifically discussed by the caucus.

Following is the resolution regarding pension legislation:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this caucus that the house should make a special order for the consideration of general pension legislation at the earliest day practicable during the session, and that the committee on rules be requested to report a resolution to that end; said order to be a continuing order from day to day, until the general pension legislation on the calendar shall be disposed of.

Houk, of Tennessee, then moved the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this caucus that the committee on rules of the house of representatives report a resolution making it in order, as a matter of privilege, to move for the discharge of the committee on education from further consideration of the Blair educational bill, and report to the house for consideration at the earliest practicable day during this session.

AGAINST THE MILLS PROPOSITION.

The members of the ways and means committee next laid before the caucus the formal proposition that had been made by Mills, to dispense with the debate on the tariff bill under the five-minute rule, and a long debate ensued. At the beginning several members favored acceptance of the proposition, but in the end they were induced into making the action of the caucus upon the subject unanimous. It was disclosed during the debate that the general sentiment of the caucus was that if a republican tariff bill should be formulated, it should fully and emphatically represent the republican policy of protection.

Kelly vigorously protested against the formulation of a bill, and other members argued that it was not reasonable to require the minority party to submit a bill which necessarily would not fully meet the views of the members of that party, but must be constructed with a view to securing sufficient strength for passage from the majority party.

Nelson of Minnesota, while urging the preparation of a bill, remarked that he was "not in love with the Mills bill," and added that Minnesota could be relied upon to give a republican majority this fall, regardless of the action of the house on the tariff.

Finally Brown of Indiana offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this caucus that the pending tariff bill be taken up and considered in committee of the whole, under the five-minute rule, in the usual way, section by section and paragraph by paragraph.

The caucus, which lasted four hours, then adjourned.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Consideration of the Legislative Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The house went into committee of the whole on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bills. The pending amendment, offered by McComas, of Maryland, increasing the clerical force of the civil service commission, was advocated by Tracey, of New York, who said that the increase would enable the president to extend the classified list. The president had been criticised for having made extensions.

A discussion followed by Messrs. Whitthorne, Hopkins, Adams and Butler.

Butler, of Tennessee, said the democratic party of Tennessee had a method which beat Jay Hubbell all hollow. He sent to the desk and had read a letter from J. R. M. Davis, secretary of the Hancock county democratic committee, to U. S. Commissioner Williams at Xenophon, Tenn., asking him what steps he intended to take in the next campaign, and saying: "The party is willing to give to gain strength, but otherwise say business will be withheld."

Whitthorne: I knew nothing about the truth of the allegations. I don't know the parties, but am gratified for one that the thing is working. [Laughter.]

The amendment was then agreed to by a vote of 81 to 71.

While the vote was in progress, Spinola, of New York, entered the chamber and inquired what the pending question was. On being informed by the chair that the vote was on an amendment increasing the force of the civil service commission, he passed between the tellers with the remark: "I want to be recorded in the negative against that relic of federalism."

The amendment provides for one additional clerk of class three; one of class two, and one at $1000, and increases the appropriation for the necessary traveling expenses from $4000 to $6500.

Crain, of Texas, raised a point of order against an appropriation of $8000 for the salary of the first auditor of the treasury. He quoted from the statutes the law fixing the salary of this official at $4000, and denounced the practice of cutting down salaries in appropriation bills.

Pending further action the committee rose, and the house adjourned.

THE NORTH AND THE SOUTH.

A Report in Favor of Organic Union Applauded to the Echo.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—The special committee to which has been referred all the matters relating to treating with the Southern assembly, reported to the Presbyterian general assembly this morning. The report expressed hearty approval of the action of the committee appointed last year to confer with a committee from the Southern assembly, and, furthermore, expressed a hope that the fraternizing spirit that had been manifested in these centennial days might prove the beginning of an era of more cordial fellowship and co-operation between the two assemblies. It was recommended that the committee of conference appointed last year be continued, with the addition of five members, to confer with a similar committee from the Southern assembly, respecting co-operation by the two branches of the church. The report concluded by declaring that this co-operation, in its fullest sense, could be accomplished only by an organic union, and expressed the fullest confidence in the brethren of the Southern assembly. The report was received with a perfect whirlwind of applause, and it was adopted with a mighty volume of "ayes." The action was immediately telegraphed to the assembly of Baltimore.

At the opening of the morning hour, Rev. Howard Crosby presented the report of the standing committee on theological seminaries, showing general prosperity of these institutions. There are eight theological seminaries under control of the general assembly, with a roll of 608 students. Princeton, Auburn and Dansville showed an excess of income over expenditures. With the others, the balance appears on the other side of the accounts, namely, the Union Western, McCormick & Lane. The San Francisco Seminary did not send in its returns to the committee. The report urged the utmost care on the part of professors in seminaries, in combatting the growths of infidelity and error that are being insiduously propagated from learned sources.

The report of the standing committee on temperance was presented. The report recommends that church people by no means sanction the traffic in liquor, either by endorsing the bonds of dealers or renting buildings to them, and included resolutions disclaiming political motives, but declaring in favor of the entire suppression of the traffic in intoxicating liquors as beverages. They recommend that church membership be denied to liquor dealers.

Dr. Campbell spoke in favor of the adoption of the report and its accompanying resolutions.

Dr. Howard Crosby opposed the adoption of the resolution denying church membership to liquor sellers, and hoped it would be stricken out.

The sentiment of the assembly was apparently so strongly in favor of the resolutions that the debate was not prolonged, and they went through with only a few dissenting voices.

The assembly then adjourned until Monday.

DISASTROUS GAS EXPLOSION.

A Number of People Killed and Several Fatally Injured.

MONTREAL, May 26.—The new gasometer at the gas works at Hochelaga exploded this morning. There are supposed to have been from twelve to twenty men in the building at the time. Five bodies have been taken out. The remainder are buried in the ruins.

Most of the bodies taken out were slightly bruised and it is supposed death was caused by suffocation. Men who were painting on the roof were blown fifty feet in the air, but escaped serious injury. It is supposed that as many as thirty were more or less injured. The building is entirely wrecked. The explosion was caused by leaking gas becoming ignited by a lantern, which one of the men foolishly carried into the building.

Four persons in all lost their lives, and six persons were injured, three of whom will die. Officials state that it is impossible to give the loss at present.

It is now believed that the explosion was caused by a fitter incautiously approaching a leak with a lamp while endeavoring to locate it. The damage to property is estimated at $150,000 to $200,000. It is probable that the walls adjoining the gas meter are so shaken that a large portion will have to be taken down.

The excitement in the east end of the city is very great.

The scene presented while the bodies of the victims were being removed was very pathetic. Another name, that of a young man named O'Brien, has been added to the list of killed. His body and that of Joseph Angel are still under the debris.

Following is a list of those fatally injured: Angus Gay; A. Caughnawaga, an Indian, fractured skull, burned face and hands; George Fisher, frightfully burned; Tom Stacey, compound fracture of the leg, and burns on the hands, face and legs.

CAPTURED BY HIS COUSINS.

A Fugitive Who Killed a Young Woman and Brained a Sheriff.

DELPHI, Ind., May 26.—Chamberlain, the murderer of Miss Witenberg, of Monticello, who broke jail the other night, and in escaping brained Sheriff Henderson, was captured near here this morning. To two young ladies, cousins of Chamberlain, is due the credit of the capture of the desperado.

Last evening an hour before sundown Chamberlain entered the house of his uncle, Wm. Biddle, six miles from Reynolds. The latter is a widower, and was absent from home. His daughters, Ida and Mary, aged 19 and 21, kept house for him. Their feelings can hardly be described as they stood face to face with a young man who at that moment was being hunted by a thousand armed men. Chamberlain was almost exhausted. For an entire night and day he had dodged about the country in the rain without a bit to eat or a moment to rest.

When informed that Deputy Sheriff Harvey had searched the house but an hour before, he dropped on a sofa for a short rest. His cousins induced him to remove his clothing and hang them before the fire to dry, when he fell asleep.

He remained at the house, and Mary ran across a field and told the story to Ralph and Arthur Laurie, two nearest neighbors. Armed with shot guns, and accompanied by three others, they entered the house. While Laurie drew a bead on the desperado, the others sprang upon him and bound him.

At midnight arrangements were made to start for this place. He was then taken to Monticello, where the authorities expect lynching, as the public feeling against the murderer is wrought up to the highest pitch. Company H, First regiment of state troops, arrived in Monticello this afternoon, under orders from Gov. Gray to prevent lynching. The presence of troops only had the effect of adding to the excitement and enraging the people.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

The Methodist Conference.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The result of yesterday's ballot for missionary secretaries was announced in the Methodist conference this morning. Only one of the three needed was chosen, Chaplain C. C. McCabe. Dr. Kynett was re-elected corresponding secretary of the Church Extension Society.

J. M. Phillips, agent of the New York Methodist Book Concern, and Earl Cranston, of the Western Book Concern, were unanimously elected treasurers of the missionary society. The conference then adjourned.

J. O. Peck and A. B. Howard were elected missionary secretaries on the third ballot. J. L. Hulburt was elected secretary of the Sunday school union and tract society. Dr. Mendenhall was elected editor of the Methodist Review, J. M. Buckley editor of the Christian Advocate, J. L. Bayles editor of the Western Christian Advocate, and Arthur Edwards editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate.

The United Presbyterian Assembly.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 26.—At the United Presbyterian Assembly this morning, it was voted to send a telegram of greeting to the Presbyterian assembly at Philadelphia. Rev. W. H. Miller, delegate from the Associate Reformed church, South, read the report of the committee on church extension, and it was adopted. It recommends that the work of that board be presented with clearness by the pastors to their people; that competent attorneys be employed and $10,000 be appropriated for the work of the board this year.

At the afternoon session the assembly pledged itself and the church to constitutional prohibition, but not in favor of a third party.

The committee to report the sense of the assembly in regard to the case of Dr. Woodrow reported, calling upon Dr. Woodrow and others who think with him to abstain from the theory of the hypothesis of evolution. The report was recommitted.

After some further talk on missions, the assembly adjourned till Monday.

THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION.

Assignment of Seats to the Great Dailies of the Country.

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—The assignment of seats in the space set apart in the democratic national convention for the working reporters has been completed. The convention will be held in a long, narrow hall, so that it has been necessary to restrict the accommodations provided for the newspapers very much more than was intended in the original scheme of the local committee of arrangements. Acting under imperative directions of Chairman Barnum, of the national committee, the total number of press seats provided has been fixed at 243, of which the press committee has made an equal and impartial distribution among the leading journals of the country. The number of seats, and the location of the seats assigned to the different papers, were determined after consideration of nearly 600 formal applications, with a view to the relative importance of the papers applying. Notice has been forwarded to every paper to which one or more seats has been assigned, advising them of the action on their application. This notice states how many seats have been allotted, not more than three to any paper outside of St. Louis, and gives the number of each seat. The tickets and badges will not be in St. Louis for distribution until Monday, June 4th, on which day they can be obtained at the office of the local committee on arrangements, 419 Olive street, St. Louis. No notice will be sent those papers to which seats have not been assigned, and failure to receive notices will give sufficient indication of the action on their applications.

THE EVOLUTION TRIAL.

Dr. Woodrow's Complaint Against the Georgia Synod Sustained.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—The general assembly of the Southern Presbyterians met at 9:30 o'clock to-day, with Rev. Dr. Bullock, moderator, in the chair. The pending case was then resumed, and the call continued for an expression of the views of the members on evolution. Most of those who gave expression to their views announced their belief of the sincerity of Dr. Woodrow, but could not sustain his complaint. Others declared that the question was beyond the jurisdiction of the assembly, and should be dismissed without consideration. Others again denounced the theory of evolution as opposed to the scriptures and subversive of the interests of Christianity and of the church. Still others insisted that Dr. Woodrow, in his teaching, did not violate any law of God or the church, and his complaint against the synod of Georgia should be sustained.

A vote was reached at 1 o'clock when 34 votes were cast to sustain the complaint, 19 against sustaining the complaint and 2 votes for sustaining it in court.

Rev. Dr. Whaling gave notice that he will file a protest against the action of the assembly in the case of Dr. Woodrow.

Recess was taken until 4 P. M.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST CHICAGO,

By Which New York Jobbers Get Lower Rates to the Northwest.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Chicago shippers are up in arms against the proposed reduction in rates by the Burlington & Northern railway, after June 1, on through freight between New York and St. Paul, to meet rates made via the Vermont Central & Lake to Chicago shippers. The Burlington & Northern has given notice that it will adhere to the present schedule. In other words, they propose to charge the Chicago jobber 10 cents more for hauling freight from Chicago to St. Paul than they charge New York shippers for the same freight from New York to St. Paul. A number of letters of protest have been sent to the Chicago freight bureau, calling attention to the unjust discrimination. Many Chicago shippers agree that they will have to recall their men from the Northwestern territories or sell goods in that country at a loss. An effort will also be made to induce the "Q" people, who do not favor the cut, to bring its subordinate road to a sense of right and duty.

A QUESTION OF VERACITY.

A Prominent G. A. R. Veteran Contradicts Public Printer Benedict.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Col. D. A. Grosvenor, member of the employment committee of the G. A. R., testified to-day before the house committee on printing regarding the employment of soldiers and sailors and orphans of soldiers or sailors by the government printing office. Col. Grosvenor was asked if the assurances made by Benedict to representatives of the G. A. R. that the law exempting this class of employes from discharge had been kept. He said it had not been kept, but the reverse of this was the case. Grosvenor said he had visited the government printing office frequently of late in the interest of comrades of the G. A. R., and that it had always seemed to him to be the most difficult bureau of the government the G. A. R. had to deal with and where they could expect the least help.

A REVOLUTION FEARED.

The United States Sends a Naval Vessel to Hayti.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The secretary of state has been informed by the United States consul at Port au Prince, Hayti, that fears are entertained of another revolutionary outbreak on that island. The report was of such a character that it was deemed advisable to send a naval vessel to the island for the protection of the lives of American citizens there, and a telegram was sent to Rear Admiral Luce, commanding the north Atlantic squadron, now anchored off Port Royal, S. C., to dispatch one of the vessels of his squadron on that mission.

THE WISCONSIN DELEGATION.

Their First Choice is Rusk, and Their Second is Gresham.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Congressman Thomas of Wisconsin, who is a delegate to the republican national convention, said this afternoon: "The Wisconsin delegation will go to Chicago pledged for Governor Rusk. Under no circumstances can we be stampeded for Blaine. If we find that Rusk cannot get the nomination, we will cast a unanimous vote for Gresham, who is our second choice."

The Irish National League.

LINCOLN, May 26.—President Fitzgerald and Secretary Sutton of the Irish National League have telegraphed to different members of the executive committee a call for a meeting of the committee at Cleveland, Ohio, June 12. The object of the meeting is not given, but it is undoubtedly in regard to the action necessary in the face of the pope's rescript, which has created so much discussion in league circles.

PACIFIC COAST EVENTS.

The Julia Foard Wrecked at Karluk, Alaska.

COL. IRISH'S STATEMENT REFUTED.

News from the Fishing Fleet—A Walla Walla Incendiary Faints when the Verdict is Announced—San Francisco Notes.

PORT TOWNSEND, May 26.—The American bark, Julia Foard, was lost in Karluk bay, Alaska, April 25. She was commanded by Captain Trainor, from San Francisco, with a cargo of canning material for the Karluk cannery. On arrival, anchor was dropped, and preparations made to discharge the cargo and land about forty Chinese passengers, who were engaged for the cannery. About noon, a heavy storm from the northeast came up, and it appeared that unless the vessel could heave off shore and tack to get off the dangerous rocks on shore, she was in imminent danger of being wrecked. The anchor chain was hove short, and the yards backed ready to tack, when a heavy swell sent the Foard against the treacherous rocks, filling the lower hold. The storm increased in violence, but with assistance from the Karluk village, all hands were rescued, numbering about forty people, including the crew.

The bark Hope and the steamer Karluk were anchored near the Foard, but did not sustain any damage. Most of the cargo was saved.

The same evening the remnants of the bark on the beach were sold for $50. The hull was completely broken and very little rigging could be found.

The passengers were uninjured and saved all their personal effects. All of the crew, excepting the mate and steward, left Karluk on May 13, in the schooner Francis Alice, for San Francisco.

The schooner Wm. Renton arrived this afternoon, ten days from Karluk, and reported the disaster.

The Julia Foard was owned by A. P. Lorenzo of San Francisco, and was rebuilt in Port Blakely twenty-three years ago. The Julia Foard was built and launched under the French flag, at Bordeaux, and christened the St. Mark. In later years she was condemned and sold in San Francisco and placed under the Hawaiian banner in the Pacific trade until 1835, when she went ashore at Freshwater bay, in a thick fog. She was from Tahiti, loaded with cocoanuts. Tugs were paid $5000 to tow her off. She was afterward sold for $1800 and taken to Port Blakeley and rebuilt, and named the Julia Foard.

HE DID NOT VOTE FOR TILDEN.

Judge Gresham's Record as a Republican and a Protectionist.

OLYMPIA, May 26.—Mr. T. H. Cavanaugh, of this city, has received the following dispatch from Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 25.—T. H. Cavanaugh, Olympia—There is no truth whatever in what John P. Irish is reported to have said. Judge Gresham has been an active and efficient republican ever since the organization of the party. He worked and voted for Fremont in 1856, and has done the same for every republican nominee since that time. He not only did not vote for Tilden, but never had any sympathy with his cause. He was brought up under whig influence, and has been a consistent and earnest advocate of protection all his life. Anyone who says otherwise, tells an absolute untruth. Gresham is an earnest and courageous man, and a republican, sound in all points of party doctrine. WM. PENN NIXON.

NEWS FROM THE FISHING FLEET.

A Nice Point of Law—Two Fishermen Drowned.

ASTORIA, May 26.—Before Justice Cleveland this afternoon appeared Wm. Hendren, charged by Samuel Oliver with grand larceny, in stealing fish from complainant's seine in Middle Sands. Complainant's testimony was that he had his seine hauled almost to the shore, both ends being well in, when Hendren put his seine inside complainant's seine, and captured fish. Defendant's lawyer raised a fine point of law: Was his client guilty of larceny? and did the salmon, as yet in the water, belong to Oliver? The justice took the case under advisement.

TWO FISHERMEN DROWNED.

August Tano and John Heikkila bought a net and rented boat number five, of the Columbia River Packing Company, and started fishing last Monday. Nothing was heard from the men, boat and net till this afternoon. In-coming boats report that a part of the net was found near Fort Stevens. Both men are supposed to have been lost.

DEFENDANT FAINTED.

A Verdict of Guilty in the Clink Trial at Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, W. T., May 26.—The verdict in the case of Clink, charged with incendiarism, was guilty. When the verdict was rendered the prisoner fainted, and had to be carried down stairs from the court room to his cell.

SALEM NEWS ITEMS.

A Number of New Incorporations—Firemen's Excursion—Etc.

SALEM, Or., May 26. — Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state incorporating the Climax Milling Company; incorporators, Richard Constable, James M. Smith, D. A. Smith and H. E. Smith; capital stock, $20,000; principal office, Hillsboro. Also the Pacific Land and Investment Company; incorporators, H. C. Lewis, A. C. Brey and J. T. Flynn; capital stock, $10,000; place of business, Portland. Also the Oregon Railway Extension Company; incorporators, W. H. Holcomb, H. W. Corbett, Henry Failing and C. H. Lewis; capital stock, $1,000,000; principal office, Portland.

A firemen's excursion, numbering 200 people, came down the river on the steamer Hoag this morning. They were welcomed by the Salem firemen, who gave them a dinner. They started home at 4 this afternoon.

Napoleon Davis, clerk of the land board, starts Monday morning for St. Louis, to attend the democratic convention as delegate. Mr. Davis is for Cleveland.

SEATTLE ITEMS.

Taxation of Railroads—Hill Indemnifies His Bondsmen.

SEATTLE, May 26.—Assessor Quilter, of this county, under advice of Attorney-General Metcalfe, took the position recently that he had a right to assess a part of the rolling stock of the Northern Pacific Company. Mr. Quilter was informed by the assessor of Pierce county that all the rolling stock of the company would be assessed in that county. This will not be done. John H. Mitchell, Jr., attorney of the company at Tacoma, has informed Mr. Quilter that a large force of men is now engaged in listing the real and personal property of the company, and that King county would receive its share of both real and personal property assessments, including rolling stock. This is significant of a desire on the part of the company to comply in good faith with the new tax laws, and to avoid any dispute. Mr. Mitchell's announcement was entirely unexpected.

The baggage of the James W. Ward Dramatic Company, which was at Frye's Opera house to-night, was attached after the performance by H. E. Furey, advance agent, on a claim of wages amounting to $104.

Ex-Treasurer Hill, against whom and his bondsmen Referee Coleman recently filed a report for about $25,000 for moneys alleged to have been misappropriated by Capt. Hill during his term of office, to-day made a deed of trust to Joseph F. McNaught of all his property for the protection of his bondsmen.

MACKAY, FLOOD AND JONES.

They Are Charged with Defrauding Holders of Mining Stock.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—John Nelson filed suit this afternoon against the Nevada bank, John W. Mackay, James C. Flood, J. P. Jones, the Comstock Mill and Mining Company, and the Consolidated California and Virginia Mining Company, et al., wherein he alleges that Mackay, Flood and Jones, who own a controlling interest in the Consolidated Virginia, entered into a combination and conspiracy to defraud the other stockholders, including complainant, in pursuance of which they had all the Con. Virginia ore crushed at the mills of the Comstock Mill & Mining Company, organized by themselves. On this ore they charged from two to three dollars a ton more for milling than another mill would have done, thereby defrauding the stockholders, it is claimed, out of fully $880,000.

In addition to this, defendants, as directors of the Nevada bank, charged exorbitant commissions for the sale of bullion, whereby they again swindled the stockholders out of over $800,000. Other charges were made, and complainant asks that defendants be compelled to account for these sums; that all contracts between the Consolidated Virginia and Comstock Company, and between those companies and the Nevada bank, be declared void.

TROUBLE ON THE ISLAND.

Natives Rebel Against French Authority, and Arm Themselves.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The brig Tahiti, carrying French mails, arrived here this morning from Tahiti, and reports matters in the islands in an unsettled condition, and that an outbreak of natives against the French authorities is liable to occur at any time. A number of French war vessels are watching in the various ports, ready to quell any disturbance, and the arrival there of the French flagship Duquesne is awaited, when it is said the admiral will be asked to settle the dispute. It is stated that the natives of the islands of Raiates and Huhani claimed their independence, pulled down a French flag which had been raised over the islands and then armed themselves. They are said to be well supplied with rifles and have built temporary forts.

IN LUCK AND OUT OF LUCK.

Suicide of a Man Who Recently Drew $5000 in a Lottery.

SANTA ROSA, May 26.—The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death by alcoholism and use of drugs in the case of J. R. Humphreys, a druggist, found dead in his store to-day. It was shown that Humphreys purchased a ticket in the late drawing of a lottery, which won $5000. The ticket, which was forwarded to him through Wells, Fargo & Co., was abstracted, and another substituted by some parties unknown, and though the company succeeded in recovering a portion of the $5000, Humphreys became despondent at his loss, and commenced drinking heavily. He also had been in the habit of taking eighty grains of hydrate of chloral at a time.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

A Free Excursion by the Union Pacific—Democrats Start To-day.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The republican delegates to the Chicago convention met to-day to arrange for the trip East. Creed Haymond presided. The offer of the Union Pacific to give a free excursion from Ogden to Salt Lake, and thence via Denver to Omaha was accepted. The party will leave here June 10th. The secretary was instructed to invite the delegates of all the coast states and territories to join the party. Two delegates and nine alternates sent word that they would be unable to attend the convention.

The delegates to the national democratic convention met this afternoon, and decided to depart to-morrow morning at 8:30 o'clock, for St. Louis.

About eighty persons have bought tickets for St. Louis at different local offices. At Reno the party will be joined by the Nevada delegates, eight in number, and at Granger, Wyo., the Oregon delegates will get on board. The cars provided for the Pacific coast delegates will run through to St. Louis without change. They have been decorated and the Californians will take along a large white banner of silk, fringed with gold. The seal of the state occupies the central space while in each corner is a typical California scene. The delegation will arrive four days ahead of time and will be quartered at the Lacleda house.

DISASTROUS COLLISION.

One Train Man Killed and a Number Severely Injured.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., May 26.—At 1 o'clock this morning a collision occurred near Walnut station, twenty-four miles east of here, between light engine 328, Engineer Stevens, and an eastbound freight, Conductor Mahoney. Head-brakeman Howell, of the freight, was instantly killed, and the engineer, firemen and two brakemen on the extra were seriously injured. The track was torn up for some distance. Twelve cars were ditched and badly smashed. It is claimed to be the fault of Engineer Stevens, of the extra, for running without orders. Wrecking trains are clearing the track.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27.—Joseph Howe, at the home of inebriates, committed suicide last night. He contrived to strangle himself by binding a silk handkerchief about his throat. Deceased was a native of England, and a painter by occupation.

Police Judge Lawler this morning rendered his decision in the case of five Salvation Army troopers who were arrested for disturbing the peace. He dismissed the charge, saying that there was no doubt that every man has a right to worship God as his conscience dictated, but he called attention to the annoyance caused by the methods of the army, and warned the Salvationists that their religious freedom must not intrude upon the rights of others.

The body of David Gondalza was washed out of a creek between lake Merced and the beach this afternoon. He was seen at the water's edge with a knife which he slashed across his throat twice, and before anyone could reach him he leaped into the creek and was drowned.

A peculiar phenomenon occurred to-day in the vicinity of San Leandro and San Lorenzo. Between 4 and 6 o'clock in the morning a very heavy rainfall took place at the latter town, which completely flooded creeks and washed away roads. At San Leandro, which is only two miles distant, not a drop of rain fell, and what is most peculiar, not a cloud was noticed in the sky.

Tickets to Buenos Ayres, capital of Argentine Republic, have been sold at the office of the Atlantic & Pacific. The tickets include 3000 miles of railroad and 9000 miles of steamship travel. The trip will take about five weeks to accomplish.

A Steel Steamer Launched.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Shortly before midnight to-night, it being high tide, the new steel steamer Pomona was launched from the Union Iron Works shipyard, without mishap. The vessel was built for Capt. Knowles and Miller Griffith, and is 231 feet long, thirty-three feet beam, and sixteen feet deep. She will be fitted with triple expansion engines of 1000 horse power, and will presumably ply between this port and Honolulu.

Another Sentence for Hamberg.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Another sentence, of a year in the county jail, and a fine of $1000, has been imposed on Simon Hamberg, the half-interest swindler. His punishment now aggregates, if he does not pay the fines, imprisonment in the county jail for nearly fifty-six years.

A Fifteen-Ton Casting.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The sternpost of the new cruiser San Francisco, to be built by the Union Iron Works, was cast at the Pacific Steel Works to-day. It is the largest steel casting ever made on this coast, and it is said it will be the largest sternpost on any vessel in this navy. Fifteen tons of metal was required in the casting.

The Los Angeles Strike.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—Work in the Southern Pacific yards to-night is going on about as usual, the force of men being almost sufficient to take the places of the strikers. This afternoon the yard men at San Pedro went out. Their places have not yet been filled.

Shipping.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—Clearances—Steamer State of California, Portland; ship John A. Briggs, Nanaimo; bark Carrolton, Port Townsend; bark Don Carlos, Chemanus. Sailed—Ship Lindisfarne, Nanaimo.

The Columbia.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—The steamer Columbia came off the dry dock at the Union Iron Works to-day and went into her berth at Spear street. She will leave for Portland and Astoria Thursday.

OTHER COAST DISPATCHES.

Tacoma News Items.

TACOMA, W. T., May 26.—A writ of habeas corpus was asked for and granted to-day in the case of John Salmon, charged with burglary of Filleston's liquor store. A petition filed before Judge Allyn by prisoner's counsel, Joe Branston, sets forth that at the hearing yesterday, the justice refused to hear his objections to the prosecuting attorney's cross-examination, but peremptorily commanded him to sit down before the objections were stated, and when the prisoner declined to tell his story in the absence of his attorney, who had withdrawn from court, under said treatment, the court bound him over in $5000 bonds. The petition characterized the action of the justice as high-handed, intolerant, and unjustifiable. The hearing is fixed for 10 A. M. Monday.

The city council to-day granted a franchise to George Orchard and associates to build a cable street car line out Eleventh street from Pacific avenue to K street and returning to Pacific avenue by Thirteenth street. The line on Eleventh street to the western extremity must be built within twelve months, and the balance completed in twenty-four months.

Col. Irish at Albany.

ALBANY, Or., May 26.—Col. John P. Irish spoke in this city this afternoon, to a large audience. He was introduced by Hon. J. K. Weatherford, and spoke for an hour and a half, principally on the tariff question and the treasury surplus. He was followed by ex-Gov. L. F. Grover, who spoke for a few minutes.

Hon. John F. Swift will speak here Monday night, in answer to Mr. Irish.

Rich Silver Strike.

NOGALES, A. T., May 26.—A rich silver discovery is reported from the foothills of the Pajarito mountains, ten miles west of here. Assays are said to range from $400 to $5000 per ton. Quantities of malleable ore have been picked out of ledges. Several shafts have been sunk.

A Victim of Dynamite.

SALT LAKE, Utah, May 26. — Charles Hayes was blown to pieces by an explosion of giant powder, which he was carrying at the Daly mine, Park City, yesterday.

ENGLAND.

Spurgeon and the Baptist Union.

LONDON, May 26.—Spurgeon writes concerning the Baptist Union: "Mourning over great evils in some of the churches, I sacrificed place, friendship and reputation to be clear of it. My protest was resented, but discussions which have taken place more than justify my charges. It has cost me many wounds to be accused by my brethren. It is still more painful to find that these great errors are not regarded as such by the masses of professors."

The Manchester Meeting.

LONDON, May 26.—The race for the Whitsuntide plate, 5000 sovereigns, at the Manchester meetings, was won by Chitabob, by four lengths, with Donovan second; Byron third, a length between second and third. The other starters were: Lavare, Barkskinning, Fair Marion, Roberto, Antibes, John Elder, Coolshannagh and Meriden.

Cummings Again Defeats George.

LONDON, May 26.—The second of a series of running matches between W. Cummings and W. G. George was run on the Astor Lower grounds at Birmingham to-day. The distance was one mile. Cummings was again victorious, finishing twelve yards in advance of George.

American Bicyclist Hurt.

LONDON, May 26.—Wm. Rowe, an American bicyclist, met with a serious accident at a contest at Jarrow, to-day. His collar bone was broken, and he received internal injuries.

CANADA.

Changes in the Dominion Cabinet.

OTTAWA, May 26.—All the papers here indorse the appointment of Foster as minister of finance and fisheries, succeeding Sir Charles Tupper, who returns to England to resume the duties of high commissioner to Canada. A reconstruction of the cabinet is impending. C. H. Tupper, M. P., son of the ex-minister, will be the next minister of marine. He is a clever but unexperienced politician, and his prospective appointment meets with considerable opposition. The department of customs and inland revenue is to be abolished, and a minister of trade and commerce will be appointed instead, to direct the revenue policy of the government.

UNION SEAMEN RUNNING THE TOWN.

Refusing to Work, and Using Force to Prevent Others—Serious Complications Feared at the Newcastle Mines.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., May 26.—On account of the Coast Seamen's Union striking for $40 for the voyage to San Francisco, the indications are that Puget sound shipping interests will suffer greatly. Seamen refuse to sign the articles prepared by the Ship Owners' Association, and openly violate the territorial laws by intimidating men who have signed, and preventing them from boarding vessels. Heretofore from five to twenty thousand dollars was disbursed monthly to seamen, and spent in Port Townsend. Only two vessels in the last sixty days have paid their crews here. Part of a crew was shipped to-day, for the ship Sumatra, lumber-laden from Seattle for San Francisco, and were taken by force from aboard the vessel.

The town is completely in the hands of the union mob, and the city and county officers appear to be entirely helpless. The men were openly threatened by the union seamen with severe chastisement, if they shipped on the Sumatra. Unless territorial assistance remedies the trouble, the shipping interest of Puget sound will suffer great injury.

Henry Rothschild, Puget sound agent for the shipowners, is waging a bitter war against the union, contending for vessels' interests. He conceded to ship a crew for $40 for the voyage to San Francisco, and the union has notified him and the captain that the vessel must accept any man the union tenders them, and they must be signed on their own articles.

THE SITUATION ALARMING.

PORT TOWNSEND, W. T., May 26.—The trouble between the Sailors' Union and the shipping men here is about at a culminating point. The ship Sumatra is lying in the bay lumber laden, bound for a coasting voyage. Mr. Rothschild, agent for the Ship Owners' Association, had obtained a few men, paying $40 per month, when the union men refused to let them go on board, and forcibly took one man off the vessel to-night. As the same man was about to board the vessel, having expressed his desire to go, he was forcibly taken from the citizens who accompanied him, and rushed to the Union office and locked up. The citizens are aroused, and propose to make an example of those engaged in the lawless act. The town is almost in a state of riot, and trouble may occur.

THE NEWCASTLE STRIKE.

A Possibility That the Men in the Franklin Mine Will Come Out.

SEATTLE, W. T., May 26.—The strike of the coal miners at the Oregon Improvement Company's Newcastle mine has taken a very serious turn. County Commissioner Wilkes, who is a member of the executive committee of the Knights of Labor, and Frank Terrace, of the same committee, came to this city to-night to counsel with Prosecuting Attorney Ronald and Sheriff Cochrane. They say that the miners offered to submit all disputes to arbitration, provided the company would reinstate Kelley Ramsey, the young man to whose efforts the trouble is attributed. The company refused to do this and the committee then said that unless the dispute was settled by Monday next, the miners in the Franklin mine would be called out. This is the only other mine of the company and is much the better equipped mine, the company having just put in it $200,000 worth of machinery. It produces the best coal and has the largest capacity. If this is done all the resources of the company will be closed, and it will be compelled to take some action. All indications are that the company will not hesitate to precipitate matters in the event of the closing down of the Franklin mine.

An evening paper here published a report this evening that Gov. Semple had ordered out the militia to protect the company's property, but the report is not correct, as neither Gen. Hill nor Col. Haines, of this city, has received any such orders, and they would know it if such an order had been issued. Anyhow, direct information shows that no such order has been issued. But it is not at all unlikely that some inquiry has been made of Gov. Semple relative to what he would do in the event of any difficulty at the mines.

The expectation is that the company will, on Monday, attempt to operate the mine with members of the Miners' Labor and Protective Union, and if the Knights of Labor attempt to interfere, the company will call first on the sheriff, and then, if necessary, on the governor for protection. There is no question that the company will not submit without a contest, and a contest, from present indications, means a very serious affair, if the miners carry out their design to call out the miners in the Franklin mine.

The managers of the mine gave notice to the county that they would hold it responsible for all damages which may result from the absence of such protection as the county may be required by law to furnish, in case of trouble.

Sheriff Cochrane said to-day that he would to-morrow go to the mine, and deputize enough men to protect persons and property. Trouble is feared, although prompt action may avert it. If the militia is called out there will undoubtedly be a serious conflict.

A MORE HOPEFUL REPORT.

A later and very well authenticated report says that the Franklin miners will not go out on a strike, and that they do not propose to mix up in the dispute at the Newcastle mine. It is also asserted that the Newcastle mine will be in operation on Monday. This report comes very straight, although not accompanied by the terms of settlement.

SPORTING EVENTS.

Opening Day of the Latonia Jockey Club Races.

CINCINNATI, May 26.—The spring meeting of the Latonia Jockey Club was inaugurated to-day. There was an immense attendance, and the day was warm. The track was in excellent condition.

For three-year-olds and upwards, one mile—Glen Hale won, Lemay second, Gallatin third; time, 1:43.

Three-year-olds and upward, seven furlongs—Birthday won, Jaubert second, Myrtle third, time, 1:29¾.

For 2-year-olds, four furlongs—Tessak won, Alabrene second, Irene Dillon third; time, 0.50.

For 2-year-old colts, five furlongs—Madstone won, Syracuse second, Lincoln third; time, 1.03.

Latonia Derby, for 3-year-olds, $2000 added, of which $400 to second and $100 to third, one mile and a half—Gallifet was favorite in the pools, and was bunched with White in the books. From the first stretch White led the pack, closely followed by Los Angeles, who kept gaining on him with tremendous stride, and finished a dead heat with White, Gallifet third, four lengths behind; time, 2:39¼. In the run-off Los Angeles won by three lengths; time, 2:49¼. The value of the stakes to the winner was $4350.

Racing at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—The June meeting of the St. Louis Fair Association and Jockey Club was opened to-day. The weather was magnificent and the attendance very large. The track was slow.

One and one-sixteenth miles—Orderly won, Prather second, Irish Pat third, time, 1:53.

One mile—Moonlight won, Del Norte second, Fraud third; time 1.47½.

St. Louis Fair Derby, $2500 added, for three-year-olds, mile and a half—Falcon won, J. B. Clay second, Alexandria third; time, 2:43½.

For two-year-olds, five furlongs—Liberty won, Glockner second, Famous third; time, 1.05½.

One mile—Luther won, Unique second, Winslow third; time, 1.46½.

Brooklyn Jockey Club Races.

NEW YORK, May 26.—It rained all day at Gravesend and the track was fetlock deep in mud.

One mile—Golden Reel won, Lady Primrose second, Mollie McCarthy's Last third; time, 1:46.

One and one-eighth miles—Dry Monopole won, Favor second, Brookful third; time, 2 03.

One and one-half miles—The Bard won, Volante second, Hanover third; time, 2 42½.

Two-year-olds — Six furlongs — Seymour won, Harrisburg second, Miss Cody third; time, 1 20½.

Six furlongs — Portland won, Brittanic second, Brambleton third; time, 1:19½.

Baseball.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Chicago would have undoubtedly won to-day's game but for the decision of the umpire in the seventh inning, in refusing to allow Pettit's catch of Bennett's fly. This decision allowed the champions to secure four runs, before they were finally put out. Van Haltren pitched for Chicago, and Gruber for Detroit. Chicago 8, Detroit 9.

BOSTON, May 26.—To-day's game between the Philadelphias and Bostons was a battle of pitchers in which the Philadelphia had the best of it. Clement's home run in the 10th inning was the only one scored in the game. Score, Philadelphia, one; Boston, nothing.

PITTSBURG, May 26.—The visitors to the ball park to-day were treated to a very fine exhibition game. Morris was at his best. Boyle was not far behind, but errors at a critical time lost Indianapolis the game. Pittsburg, 9, Indianapolis, 2.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The games between Louisville and Brooklyn, and Washington and New York, were postponed on account of rain.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Athletics 2, Kansas City 3.

CLEVELAND, May 26.—Cleveland 8, St. Louis 5.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—Baltimore 6, Cincinnati 1.

Too Common to be Remarkable.

ST. LOUIS, May 26.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Gainesville, Texas, says: A report from White Bend Hill, Chickasaw nation, says Michael Flynn tried to induce his wife, who had left him, to return to his cabin, and, at her refusal, shot her three times, killing her. He then shot himself through the heart.

Failure of a Hatmaker.

BOSTON, May 26.—Henry O. Billings, hat manufacturer of South Farmingham, has assigned. His liabilities are said to be $100,000.

Chocolate Factory Burned.

DEDHAM, Mass, May 26.—The chocolate factory of C. D. Brooks was burned this morning. Loss, $80,000, insurance, $40,000.

A "Boodler" Pardoned.

CHICAGO, May 26.—Capt. R. S. McClaughrey, "boodle" county commissioner, was this afternoon granted a pardon by Governor Oglesby, and will be released from Joliet penitentiary Monday. McClaughrey was the only one of the "boodlers" who accepted his sentence, going to prison and paying his fine, while the others fought against their fate to the last quibble, in the highest courts of the state. The reason for the governor's clemency was the presentation of a numerously signed petition, dwelling on the manliness of McClaughrey's action after sentence, his old age, his lifelong good standing among his neighbors, and his brave record as a federal soldier.

Defying Their Bishop.

DUBLIN, May 26.—The people of Limerick have resolved to hold a league meeting to-morrow, in spite of the warning of Bishop O'Dwyer.

COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, May 26.

Merchandise received or soon to arrive by rail: 1030 cs rubbers, 241 cs rubber boots and shoes, 1 cs blacking, 17 bars steel, 6 kegs 439 bxs tobacco, 1 cs cigars, 38 bdls baskets, 36 pumps, 50 bxs bottles, 30 cls rope, 5 safes, 19 rls carpets, 29 cs hats, 10 bbls whisky, 36 bdls trunk stuff, 2 cs hosiery, 9 cs clothing, 32 bls bagging.

An auction sale of teas at New York last week showed the market to be a little easier for all kinds but fine Formosa. Settlements in Japan continue, probably to fill freight engagements but the market at Amoy has not opened. The low prices ruling during the past season for all descriptions of teas have resulted disastrously to the native dealers in China, and it is altogether probable that shipments will be delayed both at Amoy and Shanghai until the home and foreign markets are more nearly equalized.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours include 9165 ctls wheat, 1016 bbls flour, 624 ctls oats, 65 sks potatoes, 265 sks flaxseed, 17 pkgs butter, 76 cs eggs, car oranges.

WHEAT—Advices are very much of the usual Saturday character, none of the markets showing any stir. Locally holders are very firm in their ideas, while buyers have no important need. The idea is that the market will change a little for the balance of the crop year.

FLOUR—Market firm in sympathy with that for raw material. Demands are good for the most part.

MILLSTUFF—Bran and shorts rule firm, the stock being kept low by shipments to San Francisco. Prices show no change.

OATS—The local market is quoted 42½@46c, but feed qualities cannot be sold readily above 45c. Dealers get good stock at this figure.

POTATOES—Trade still runs mostly in Oregon grades, California new being in slow sale.

CHICKENS—Market about steady, $4@5 being quoted for old, and $2@3 for young.

EGGS—Full supply, the request being sufficient to keep down the stock.

WOOL—The market is slow to open. Between the indifference of buyers and the heavy condition of the clip, prices must be low. Growers look for activity and better bids later on.

BOSTON WOOL REPORT.

From circular of Hallowell & Coburn of May 18: The wool market continues in a slow and unsatisfactory condition. Sales for the week foot up 1,544,400 lbs., about as much as last week, but most of the business has been at some concession, and while no material change can be made in quotations, the tendency on most goods continues in favor of buyers. There has been no disposition to refuse any reasonable bid, and the result is that many of the largest holders are nearly cleaned out. The principal transactions have been in territory wools, and very little more remains here to be sold. Choice Western fleeces are not much sought after yet, as the stock here is small. Manufacturers have to pay pretty full rates for supplies when wanted. In California there continues to be a slow movement in the spring clip, and stocks are still accumulating. Prices are comparatively higher than here, and for some lots on this market, it is hard to get within 3 cents a pound of the price expected by shippers. In Texas buyers continue to hold off, and it is difficult to give a reliable basis for values. Buyers in all sections are waiting for the action of congress on the tariff bill. Dealers have come to the conclusion that any definite disposition of the subject would be better than the present uncertainty. A settlement is desired even if it should be on basis of free wool, rather than be in danger of further agitation a year hence. Foreign wool continues to be held with great confidence, and the small sales thus indicate that no effort has been made to effect sales. A large part here is still in bond, and will not be taken out until the fate of the tariff bill can be ascertained. The goods market is without animation and in nearly all cases manufacturers are working on small orders. Clothiers are not disposed to buy except for actual want, as they feel that the longer they hold off the better bargains they will get. This policy, in fact, has been pursued all through the season, and while their purchases in the aggregate foot up to about the usual amount, they have been made in a way to keep the market more or less depressed.

CLEVELAND'S EMISSARY DID IT.

It Was Irish Who Caused the Oregon Democrats to go Back on Their Platform.

A letter from a citizen of Pendleton encloses an article from the democratic paper at that place, which says: "Repeatedly THE OREGONIAN has alleged that Col. Irish came to Pendleton to dictate to the democrats their platform. Repeatedly we have emphatically denied this, but THE OREGONIAN still persists in its false assertions. Mr. Irish had absolutely nothing to do with the platform—at least to that part of it relating to the president and the tariff. It would have been exactly the same if Col. Irish had never been heard of." To this the citizen of Pendleton makes the following reply:

You are entirely correct when you say Mr. Irish dictated the platform of the democratic party at the Pendleton convention.

The committee consisted of nine members, who divided the work into three separate parts, three members being detailed to that part relative to "tariff reform."

The other two portions of the platform were easily disposed of, but it was not until after Col. Irish's speech that the tariff plank was "fixed."

The committee was appointed at 10 o'clock A. M. on the first day of the convention, and was unable to agree until after midnight on the second day, being out over thirty-six hours.

It is universally known here that Col. Irish did dictate the tariff part of the platform. He was the principal agent in inducing the convention to reverse its position of two years ago.

A NEW COASTER.

The Alliance to be Put in the Columbia and Coast Trade.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—F. A. Strong, president of the Portland and Coast Steamship Company, has purchased the steamer Alliance in this city. The steamer will go north in two weeks, and will engage in the local coast trade out of the Columbia river, carrying both passengers and freight.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The following special report of the real estate market is furnished THE OREGONIAN by J. Fred Clark & Sons, real estate agents:

Whilst there is no special rush of business, there is sufficient increase in its volume to warrant our saying that it is very satisfactory, more especially when it is remembered that we are on the eve of an election, which is absorbing a more than ordinary amount of public interest. The transactions of the two weeks corresponding with the past one were in

The amount for the past week is shown in the table below. It is gratifying to note that a steadily increasing proportion of the sales made are to newcomers, and as the volume of immigration rolls in upon us this proportion will undoubtedly materially increase. Whilst newcomers naturally require time to look and to think, it is clear that many of them see many of our advantages, present and prospective, more plainly than we who have resided here many years. And this is natural. The parent who is always at home, seeing his children from day to day, scarcely perceives their development from babyhood to maturity. Let him be absent for six months or a year and he notices changes which seem to him remarkable. So we have seen the growth of our city and state unfolding so gradually as to make it difficult for us to realize that babyhood is already growing up to young, vigorous maturity. Such, however, is the case, and as the months and years roll by, it seems that, humanly speaking, not all the opposition to Portland's progress, whether by railroad combinations or any other cause, can prevent its rapid advancement or stop the settlement of our favored state.

COL. EFFINGER.

He Replies by Tenders a Defense of His Position that Protection is Unconstitutional.

PORTLAND, May 26.

To the Editor of The Democrat:

[illegible] to your criticism is always [illegible] intelligently; though your politi[cal] [illegible] objects into your discus[sion] [illegible] antagonist's views an element of [illegible].

[illegible] after my Tuesday night's [illegible] using that recognized but [illegible] weapon—ridicule—demolished me [illegible] readers that I had made a [illegible] in the field-political, and went so [illegible] that no public man in America [illegible] dreamed of such superlative non[sense] [illegible] in the doctrine which I sought [illegible].

[illegible] following evening—according to a [illegible] the Hon. M. C. George departed [illegible] usual line of discussion and in a [illegible] before the Blaine Club, "demon[strated]" [illegible] the fallaciousness" of my views. [illegible] issue of to-day you say that my [illegible] of the doctrine is a figment of the [illegible] heresy and undertake the over[throw] [illegible] argument by saying it is part of [illegible] and condemned state sovereignty, [illegible] doctrine.

[illegible] is purely an economic question. [illegible] right or wrong of it ought to be [illegible] considered, without heat, and the [illegible] discuss it, in the light of the war [illegible] sections confuses, without possi[bility] [illegible] a correct conclusion.

[illegible] ... has absolutely nothing to [illegible] question, and you are much too [illegible] controversialist to obtrude into a dis[cussion] [illegible] of a constitutional question ad cap[tandum] [illegible] which may show my un[illegible] but do not in any wise affect the [illegible] of my views.

[illegible] suppose I maintain that all protec[tion] [illegible] without constitutional warrant you [illegible] me.

[illegible] power to tax through a tariff is ex[illegible] and therefore, so long as the [illegible] for revenue, you may, by adjust[ment] [illegible] protect one or more industries within [illegible] of this power.

[illegible] is that when you go beyond [illegible] and adjust your tariff so as to make pro[tection] [illegible] the object and revenue the incident, [illegible] the constitutional method, and [illegible] conflict with the constitution, for that [illegible].

[illegible] true that the earliest tariff legis[lation] [illegible] protection in it; but it is equally [illegible] protection was then purely inci[dental] [illegible].

[illegible] the tariff was always discussed [illegible] question, and then, for the first [illegible] question of constitutionality began [illegible] in congress.

[illegible] to 1842, at every session of con[gress] [illegible] was this discussion, and public [illegible] not so much upon sectional [illegible] upon the usual contentions of the [illegible] democratic and whig parties, took po[sition] [illegible] the policy and constitutionality [illegible].

[illegible] correctly quote the preamble of the [illegible] tariff; but the protection was by [illegible] purely incidental to the main ob[ject] [illegible] revenue.

[illegible], December 17, another such bill [illegible] and this was entitled "To pro[vide] [illegible] revenues for defraying the [illegible] of the government and maintain[ing] [illegible] public credit by laying duties on [illegible] goods, wares and merchandise man[ufactured] [illegible] within the United States." Even [illegible] early day the question of constitu[tionality] [illegible] began to receive attention, though [illegible] war of 1812 made the necessity for in[creased] [illegible] revenues urgent. The government [illegible] loans and then treasury notes, and [illegible] supplied the necessary money supplies [illegible] this method, which fact I take to be [illegible] the enormous tariff of [illegible] 1816, which still afflicts us.

[illegible] have quoted Mr. Madison. In his [illegible] to congress December 15, 1815, he [illegible] "In adjusting the duties on imports to [illegible] of revenue the influence of the tar[iff] [illegible] will necessarily present [illegible] consideration."

[illegible] the first protective bill, where it and [illegible] was the primary object, was [illegible] and Mr. Calhoun voted for it. In the [illegible] of 1832 Mr. Clay in an argument [illegible] protection in the senate suggested that [illegible] Calhoun believed in the constitutional[ity] [illegible] such legislation, whereupon Mr. Cal[houn], [illegible] interrupting, stated that he held a dif[ferent] [illegible] opinion, and believed it unconstitu[tional].

[illegible] James K. Polk, in the lower house, [illegible] proposition offered by him to allow a [illegible] on imported cotton bagging, dis[illegible] and unequivocally announced his [illegible] that all tariff legislation having protec[tion] [illegible] its primary object was unconstitu[tional], [illegible] and in 1844 the issue between him [illegible] Mr. Clay was largely upon this very [illegible] between these two men. In fact, [illegible] before the people in Novem[ber], [illegible] but was upon a tariff for revenue, as [illegible] for protection. In Polk's [illegible] in 1845 he distinctly announced [illegible], and elaborated it in his first [illegible] message.

[illegible] to 1861 we had a compromise [illegible] from the last named day to this [illegible] has perhaps been no time when we [illegible] this question without prejudice [illegible]. Even at this late day a dispas[sionate] [illegible] discussion of it seems to provoke only [illegible] rejoinder.

[illegible] 1883, Mr. John Randolph Tucker, [illegible] in a revision of the tariff, urged [illegible] with signal ability, and the only [illegible] Mr. Garfield, then leading the re[publican] [illegible] party in the house, was, as you [illegible] with me, to quote Mr. Madison. [illegible] Mr. Tucker is a very able man and [illegible] I personally know, the [illegible] justice of the supreme bench [illegible] to which Mr. Lamar was [illegible].

[illegible] Kerr, of Indiana, always held [illegible] this view, and to my mind he [illegible] one of the purest, but one of [illegible] public men ever produced in [illegible].

[illegible] determination of this question [illegible] question of state rights; in [illegible] it is purely a business affair. The [illegible], must be found, if at all, in [illegible] law of the land.

[illegible] with a long line of respectable [illegible] that the constitution rightfully [illegible] protection to the line of [illegible] when I seek—properly respect[illegible]—to make this clear to [illegible] it hardly seems fair to [illegible] Southern Confederacy in reply.

[illegible] from arguing the ques[tion] [illegible] than by this brief historical re[view] [illegible] I suppose you would hardly [illegible] to me for this use. It is [illegible] however, now that the people [illegible] the tariff, to maintain in [illegible] what I conceive to be the [illegible] constitution, namely, a tariff [illegible] with only such protection there[in] [illegible] came incidentally and by ad[justment].

WHY MAUDE AND I SWORE OFF.

A Lady From Vassar Taught Her to Play Poker and I Paid for It.

Somewhere about the ides of the sixth month of wedded felicity in our flat I began to notice a growing restlessness in Maud's demeanor. I was at first greatly puzzled to locate the seat of the disorder, but by degrees I became convinced that it proceeded from depletion of the pocketbook that appeared to be rapidly becoming chronic. Maude was perpetually "busted." She was drawing the usual dividend from my trousers pocket every Saturday night, but it no longer sufficed for the domestic expenditures. I could not account for it. True, we were entirely at the mercy of the janitor's boy, who had formed a "trust" on the errand business and charged monopoly prices, but even his extortions were not sufficient to bankrupt Maude by Tuesday night every week; and that was what it was coming to. I began to fear blackmail and was disturbed by all sorts of horrible visions.

One Wednesday morning, as Maude solicitously brushed some dust from my coat collar, she murmured softly: "Lend me five dollars, Howdy, and I'll pay you Saturday night."

"My dear," said I, "you will have to cut it down. I have $2 concealed upon my person, and, barring car fare, that is the size of my pile."

"Oh, Howdy," said Maude, with tears in her eyes, "that will buy only one stack——"

"One what?" I yelled.

For an instant Maude was abashed by her unexpected disclosure. Then she gently grasped the top button of my coat with one hand and the corresponding buttonhole with the other, while her eyes were fixed upon my Adam's apple with an intensity that threatened tracheotomy. This is her favorite attitude of defense. It is very effective because it compels me to look over her head and address my remarks to the atmosphere in a general and scattering fashion.

"One stack!" continued Maude, addressing my collar button. "That's what she calls it. You see, Mrs. Brown, who lives in the other flat on this floor, has been teaching me to play poker. She keeps the bank and sells the chips. Twenty chips make a stack."

"So I have heard."

"She says that I must expect to blow in my dust at the start," continued Maude, "but after I learn to play as well as she can we are going to rope you and Mr. Brown into the game and give you the cold freeze. She says I can get hunk that way. I don't know exactly what all this means, but that's the way she says it."

"Oh, she says you can get hunk off of Brown and me, does she," said I. "Well, I'd like to see you do it. Bring 'em both in to-night and I'll show Mrs. B. how to open a jack pot."

"Why, Howdy," said Maude, reproachfully, "I didn't know you played poker."

"Well, I didn't go through Harvard college for nothing."

"Mrs. Brown is from Vassar."

"The deuce she is. That makes a difference. You'd better make it next week. I shall want time to study up on the game."

During the rest of the week Maude and I devoted our evenings to practice. I tried to get points on Mrs. Brown's play while Maude was occupied in learning a new shuffle that her friend had acquired among her other university accomplishments. I had met Mrs. Brown once or twice in a neighborly way. She was a handsome brunette of modest demeanor and intellectual countenance. I had congratulated Brown several times on his good luck in winning her.

The momentous evening arrived and brought our guests. The table was cleared and the cards and chips were ready. The instant that Mrs. Brown took her seat at the table her whole demeanor changed. She took up the pack and manipulated it in a way that would have made the dealer of a Sixth avenue "brace" game turn green with envy. It afforded me but little satisfaction to observe that her sleeves were tight. She bought two stacks of checks, lit a cigarette and remarked, "Gentlemen, the pie is out."

"You appear to have some slight familiarity with the game," I said, calmly.

"I was President of the V. S. P. C. A.," said she. "It was supposed to refer to the prevention of cruelty to animals—canary birds, pug dogs and other pets, you know—but in reality it meant the Vassar Students' Poker and Cigarette Association. But we were always generous with the 'kitty' so the name wasn't wholly deceptive."

The play proceeded. I was banker. Maude was having big luck. So was Mrs. Brown. Brown and I were being put into the hole with inglorious ease. Maude opened a jack pot for the limit, stood "pat" and the lady from Vassar drew two cards. Brown and I got caught between them and were "raised out."

Maude was wild. She couldn't get her chips in fast enough. When they were all down she wanted to continue with the furniture and bric-a-brac. The lady from Vassar was cool, but she kept on raising.

"Call her down," I whispered to Maude.

"No, sir," said she. "I'll bet anything I've got on this hand. It's a sure thing. I'll bet Claude [her darling poodle] against that terra cotta dog with a red ribbon round his neck that Mrs. Brown has in her parlor."

The lady from Vassar blew a fragrant cloud of smoke into the air.

"I'll have to go to you," said she. "Show what you're doing it on."

Maude triumphantly laid down her cards. They were the queen, king, ace, deuce and tray of hearts.

She thought it was a straight flush, but it wasn't. It took ten painful minutes to convince her of the fact.

Mrs. Brown showed up a jack full, and reached out after Claude, while I absentmindedly murmured:

"I've lost my doggy,
Who's seen my bow-wow?"

I didn't mean to harrow up Maude's feelings, but she took it badly and burst into tears. I was secretly rejoiced at the loss of Claude, whom I hated with a righteous indignation.

Suddenly Maude straightened up and assumed a look of stern purpose. We went on with the game. Maude started out boldly with the new shuffle and threw the cards all over the room. We gathered them up and proceeded. Maude began to win again. Then she opened negotiations for Claude. Mrs. Brown agreed to sell him back to her for six stacks at $2 a stack. Every time Maude won a pot she set aside a stack for Claude's redemption. When she was out of chips she bought of the bank and put in her I. O. U. We played until 4 A. M., and when the final cash-up was made one family had thirteen cents in money and Maude's I. O. U.'s for $27. But Claude had come back. A long and painful calculation convinced me that I had not only failed to lose him but that I had actually paid for him, and taken my wife's unindorsed paper for the amount. I was sick at heart. The lady from Vassar lent her husband 5 cents for car fare and put the balance in her pocket.

An hour later Maude sat up in bed with both hands to her head.

"Oh dear," she said, "I could go to sleep if that awful clock on the mantel didn't keep saying 'tick-tack, jack-pot, tick-tack, jack-pot,' all the time. When I close my eyes I see four aces, and when I try to bet on them they fade away into a bob-tailed flush. Oh-h-h."

"Maude," said I, solemnly, "you've got 'em. I've been there myself. There's only one way for this family to keep its sanity and its money. We must swear off poker."

"Howdy," said Maude faintly, "it's a go."

Wonderful

GERMAN

Invigorator.

THE OLDEST, GREATEST AND BEST REMEDY for the cure of Nervous and Physical Debility, Vital Exhaustion, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, Failing Memory, and Relaxed and Enfeebled Condition of the Genito-Urinary Organs.

It speedily cures Impotence, Early Decay, Loss of Vigor, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, and all the real effects of youthful follies and abuse, or EXCESSES OF MATURITY.

It permanently prevents all unnatural loss from the system, as thousands can attest who have used the Remedy in the past quarter of a century which it has been before the public.

It is indeed a wonderful remedy—toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system, and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH and HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hyperaesthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with one peculiar special treatment, is the only possible cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the hand of time moved back from age to youth.

Price of either Invigorator, $2. Case of six bottles, $10. Sent to any address covered securely from observation.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homeopathy every form of SPECIAL, PRIVATE or CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body, numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the unnatural loss causes Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc. Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co., from Europe, are regular college educated physicians, and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness, discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication, Prostatorrhea.

Most powerful electric belts free to patrons.

To prove the wonderful power of the Invigorator, a $2 bottle given or sent free.

County of Multnomah, } ss.

BY VIRTUE OF A DECREE AND ORDER OF sale issued out of the circuit court of the state of Oregon for the county of Multnomah, to me directed, in favor of B. Verdier and against John Bigne, John Bigne, executor of the estate of Pierre Manciet, deceased, Rachel Pallcio, "whose true name is Rachel Manciet," Frank Pallcio, Charles Pallcio, John Manciet, Linda Manciet, Peter Manciet, Vincent Manciet, Madeline Manciet, Pauline Manciet, Louisa Manciet, Richard Gerdes and Frank Botefuhr, for the sum of $13,673 26, and interest on $12,000 of said sum from the 1st day of August, 1887, at 10 per cent. per annum, and interest on the balance of said sum at 8 per cent. per annum, and the further sum of $600, and interest thereon from August 1, 1887, at 8 per cent. per annum, and the further sum of $68 40 costs, and the further sum of $45 75 costs of supreme court and accruing costs, commanding me to make sale of the following described real property to satisfy said decree and order of sale, interest and costs, to-wit: Lots numbered one (1) and two (2) of block numbered one hundred and twenty-eight (128) of the city of Portland, in Multnomah county, state of Oregon, together with all and singular the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining, I duly levied upon said real property on the 10th day of May, 1888. Now, therefore, in pursuance of said decree and order of sale, I will on Wednesday, the 13th day of June, 1888, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., at the court house door in said county and state, sell, subject to redemption, the above described real property at public auction to the highest bidder for cash.

THOS. A. JORDAN,
Sheriff of Multnomah county, Oregon.

Dated May 12, 1888. 14m1m

JUST AS GOOD AS ANY.

A Fire Department Capable of Coping with Any Emergency.

Favorable Comparison with the Service of Large Eastern Cities—Catalogue of the Apparatus—Fire Boat Needed.

"Judging from what I have read in the papers I think I am safe in saying that the Eastern cities are becoming more liberal with their fire departments," said Harry Morgan, chief of the Portland department to an OREGONIAN reporter the other day. "Recently Philadelphia made a single appropriation of $100,000 to improve its fire service. Other cities have taken similar commendable action and the march of progress is heard all along the line."

"What is the condition of the Portland department?" asked the reporter.

"Excellent; in fact, it was never better. We are able to cope successfully with any big fire, which the past has proved."

"How does the department compare with those of other cities?"

"Favorably with any except departments which are permanent, such as those of New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities where the firemen do nothing but respond to alarms. In New York a fireman receives $1000 the first year, $1100 the second and $1200 the third. At night our department is as good as a permanent one, the rules requiring three men to sleep in each company house. This gives us a working force sufficient to cope with a fire until the remainder of the men arrive. Thus I argue that a night fire is the easiest to handle, for in the day most of the men are otherwise employed and it takes some time for them or their substitutes to reach the scene of a fire."

"Is the department large enough for all purposes?"

"Yes. When the old hook and ladder truck which is being repainted and repaired, comes on duty June 1st, the department will be sufficient for all needs for some time. The springs and running gear of this truck, by the way are in good order, and when it is ready for service it will be just as good, or better, if anything, than ever. We will then have the following aparatus: Seven engines, six of which are serviceable, two good hook and ladder trucks, four two-wheel tenders, five four-wheel hose carriages, three which are serviceable, 6000 feet of hose, etc., etc. All valued at $48,500; harness, etc., $1000; property in corporation yard (not including the apparatus) as shown in the inventories, $1000; property in commissioners' office, $400; property in engine houses, tools, stoves, etc., $2500; twenty-two horses, $4000; fire alarm apparatus, in charge of superintendent of fire alarm telegraph, $16,950 21; total, $75,350 21. The value of the real estate and the eight buildings is $102,500, making the value of all property $177,850 21, an increase of $6500 since the annual report of December 31, 1887, was made. Now let us take a look at the departments of other cities. Portland, Maine, which is about the size of Portland, Oregon, has six steam engines, one hand engine, three hook and ladder trucks, six hose carriages, two fireboats, 18,000 feet of good cotton hose, 21 horses, 12 buildings, 52 telegraph alarm boxes, and 143 firemen, of whom 14 are paid full time and 129 part time. You will see that our Eastern namesake has a little larger department than ours. It has 52 alarm boxes to our 33, and 143 men to our 80. Classified, our department consists of a permanent force uniformed, and members at call. Included in the former are the chief engineer, four engineers of steamers, four drivers of engines, six drivers of hose carriages, two drivers of hook and ladder trucks, two foremen of hook and ladder trucks, two foremen of hose companies and one drayman, making twenty-two. The members at call number fifty-eight, consisting of two assistant engineers, four foremen of engine companies, and forty-six extramen."

"How does Portland fare in the matter of water supply?"

"Towns of this size in the East have from 300 to 400 street hydrants, while we have only 123. Lynn, Massachusetts, a town of 45,000 people has 497 hydrants, and Springfield, Massachusetts, which has about 40,000 inhabitants, has 665 hydrants. We could carry as many just as well. However, we have no trouble in obtaining plenty of water at fires. Besides the hydrants we have seventy-one cisterns having a capacity of 1,312,000 gallons, a loss of two cisterns and 51,000 gallons' capacity, the cistern on First and Vine streets having been abandoned, and the one on Second and Yamhill streets having become unserviceable. The water committee intends to extend its pipe, and as fast as it does so we will put fire hydrants along the line. Last year twenty-one hydrants were added to our list."

"Wouldn't a fire boat be a desirable addition to the department?"

"The time is fast approaching when a fire boat will be an absolute necessity. Portland, Me., has two. If we get one it should be a fire department in itself. Chicago has a splendid boat which cost $60,000. It will throw fourteen one-and-a-quarter-inch streams, just the capacity of our entire department. It has two stand pipes which will throw a four-inch stream 320 feet. If one is built the immense warehouse and mill interests of Albina and East Portland should contribute to the building of such a boat. If Portland and East Portland are consolidated a fire boat will doubtless be built in short order."

"There is one thing which you can impress on the minds of THE OREGONIAN readers," said Chief Morgan as the interview grew to an end, "and that is that the Portland paid fire department is ready and will always be ready to battle with the flames to the best of its ability."

BURIED IN A HURRY.

The funeral of Sing Chung, a bookman or timekeeper on railroad contracts took place yesterday according to the ancient and accepted rites of the Chinese nation. A band of music, so called, preceded the hearse in a hack, and a score or more of hacks, in one of which was another band of music, followed it. The procession proceeded from the ferry to Lone Fir cemetery at a swinging trot. A reporter rode out with Chris Nolan, the veteran hackman, to witness the ceremonies. Chris drove a hack out there to the first funeral which took place there after the cemetery company was incorporated in '54 '55, and has followed many of Portland's citizens to their last resting place since that time.

On arriving at the grave the coffin was removed from the hearse, a fire built near the foot, on which a lot of papers were thrown and then the pall-bearers threw their crape badges and white gloves on top. Then the usual roast pig, chickens, etc., were placed at the foot of the grave, candles and punks were lighted and stuck around the grave, and and a number kneeled on a mat and bowed their heads, and went through various motions. During this time an expressman who had in his wagon the bed and bedding and a lot of clothing and other effects of the dead man had made a pile of them at the edge of the cemetery and set fire to them. The ceremonies having been concluded, the coffin was lowered, a lot of the biscuits and other provisions thrown in, and the sexton began shoveling in the dirt; there was a general rush for the carriages, and the sexton was left to finish the interment.

ELI PERKINS IN TOWN.

He Lectures at Willamette University—His Impressions of Portland—The Truth, the Whole Truth, and Nothing But the Truth.

Eli Perkins (Melville D. Landon) passed through Portland yesterday en route to lecture before the Willamette University at Salem to-day. His lecture is on "The Philosophy of Wit and Humor," and takes place to-night. It is the same lecture that Mr. Landon delivered before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at Columbia college, New York.

When a reporter asked Mr. Perkins what the last news from the East was, he said:

"I find a great many Eastern people are coming this way. They have had three bad crops in Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, and now thousands of settlers and emigrants are looking towards Oregon. The Northern Pacific is doubling its passenger trains. Every one East sees a coming boom in Oregon and in Washington territory. Spokane Falls has increased her population to 10,000. You know about Tacoma and Seattle, and now I am astounded at the wonderful growth of Portland. I see new districts being built up all around the city. I actually see a boom unannounced and not advertised. I don't see any city in the country more thrifty. Portland can have no rival. She is surrounded by fertile wheat fields and ballasted in solid commerce. She will always be the great ocean port of the Northern Pacific ocean. She will steadily grow to a city of 500,000 people."

"Which way are the fashionable tourists coming this summer?" asked the reporter.

"They are all bound to come or go through Oregon. They are all bound to see Mount Shasta, the beautiful Willamette valley, Mount Hood, the wonderful Columbia river, Portland, the metropolis, and finally the astounding wonders of Yellowstone park. The Northern Pacific, and the Oregon & California, which runs solid Pullman trains from Portland to San Francisco, under the shadow of Mount Shasta—they are both indeed lucky railroads. Every enlightened passenger who comes from Boston or New York to the Pacific ocean will hereafteer go or come over the N. P. and O. C., through Portland. It is the cleanest route—the most picturesque, about as short as any other, and avoids the thousand miles of hot Egyptian sand in the Humboldt basin, the broiling deserts of Arizona and the scalding Mohave of Southern California."

"Many tourists, then, on leaving Oregon will drop down to the Yellowstone, will they?"

"Yes; that is to be the fashionable trip this year. The Yellowstone or the Yosemite, the beautiful Columbia river, majestic Mount Hood and sheol, all boiled down together. It is sheol's dumping ground for the continent—this Yellowstone is. Where else on earth can you catch sparkling trout and boil them in hissing geysers without leaving your tracks?"

FUN ON THE ROAD.

"Did you see any fun coming over on the Northern Pacific?"

"Yes," said Eli, "a bright little thing happened at the hotel in Spokane. There were about a dozen witty commercial men at dinner and a very pretty waiter girl was waiting on them. She had sweet, rosy cheeks, ivory teeth, and a smile that bewitched the traveling men. After chaffing the pretty waitress a while, one commercial man looked up and asked:"

"What is your name my pretty waitress?"

"My name," said the young lady, blushing, "is Pearl."

"Pearl!" repeated the commercial man, "That is a very pretty name—a v—e r—y pretty name." Then thinking a moment he asked:

"Are you the pearl of great price?"

"No," replied the pretty girl with an arch smile, "I am the pearl before swine."

From the university at Salem Mr. Perkins goes straight to San Francisco.

Salmon from the Hudson.

New York Sun, May 11.

Twelve salmon have been taken in shad nets near New York this week. They were the first caught this year near New York. Fish Commissioner Blackford had some of them on exhibition at his stand in Fulton market, and fat, plump fellows they were. They weighed from 9½ to 10½ pounds each. Six of them were taken yesterday, five in Gravesend bay and one off New Drop, and five on Wednesday last in one net. This is the largest number of salmon taken in New York in one day since salmon fry were first distributed in the waters of the Hudson six years ago. This year, Mr. Blackford says, 600,000 more salmon fry will be distributed. Salmon in the Hudson cannot get to the spawning beds in the upper Hudson because the fish dam above the city of Troy is not completed. The salmon catch in 1886 was eighty-four, and in 1887 ninety. They are taken between Sandy Hook and Troy. This season, Mr. Blackford believes, will produce the largest number of salmon caught hereabout in many years. After the fish dam at Troy is completed the salmon industry will revive. One of the salmon caught last week in a shad net off Yonkers was not recognized by the fisherman, who opened it to see if he could discover what kind of a fish it was. Finding it red and bloody he threw it away, thinking it might have been poisoned. He lost about $5 by his ignorance.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Final Preparations Completed for Its Proper Observance.

Grand Review of the Procession—A Vigorous Protest Against Picnics—Route of March—General Orders.

At the meeting of the general committee of the Grand Army of the Republic held yesterday afternoon in their hall, corner of First and Taylor streets, the final details of the Memorial celebration for next Wednesday were arranged. Department Commander Borthwick was in the chair, and comrades Neal, Eaton, Dubois, Kapus, Chamberlain, Summers, Northrup, McMaster, Dugan and Mayo were present.

After reports from the chairmen of the various sub-committees had been made, it was found that all the details of the celebration were well in hand.

A reviewing platform will be erected at the Fifth-street steps of the custom house, where the governor and his staff, Gen. Gibbon and his staff, and other distinguished guests will be provided with seats, and from which they will have a fine view of the procession.

The Park block, between Salmon and Main streets has been selected for the afternoon exercises and concert.

The La Camas Post has signified its intention of joining in the parade and celebration. The Bishop Scott Academy cadets have been requested to turn out, but have as yet returned no answer to the committee.

It was moved that a sum of money be given to the Portland light battery to enable them to provide horses for the guns.

A communication was read from Governor Sylvester Pennoyer accepting the invitation to review the parade, for himself and three of his staff. Governor Semple, of Washington territory, has also been invited.

Comrade E. W. Eaton was detailed to read the roll of honor on the afternoon of Decoration day.

It was decided that all bills and claims incurred by the general committee, must be approved and indorsed by the chairman of each sub-committee and by the chairman of the general committee jointly, before presented to the treasurer for payment.

It was also decided that a full programme of the memorial exercises be published in THE OREGONIAN Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Borthwick, Kapus and McMaster was appointed to draft the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, It has been announced in the public papers that certain associations and societies intend to hold excursions and picnics on the 30th of May next; and,

Whereas, The 30th day of May of each year has been set apart by custom and the laws of our country as a day of national mourning, and for the purpose of memorializing the heroic deeds of the men that fought and died "that the nation might live; therefore be it

Resolved, That this committee appointed by and representing the several posts of the G. A. R., located at Portland and neighboring cities and towns, and voicing the sentiments of the members of the order, hereby emphatically protest against such perversion of the day, and earnestly ask all patriotic men and women to discourage as far as lies in their power all such untimely and offensive merrymakings. A. E. BORTHWICK, Chairman.
R. M. McMASTER, Secretary.

LINE OF MARCH.

The following general orders have been issued by Department Commander A. E. Borthwick, marshal of the day.

I.—In compliance with general orders from national and department headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, Memorial day, May 30, 1888, will be observed by the several posts of the cities of Portland, East Portland and Albina, military organizations, civic societies, etc., by the following ceremonies:

II.—At 8:30 A. M. Details from the several posts, children of the G. A. R., and 1st Regiment O. N. G. band will report to Comrade F. R. Neale, at G. A. R. hall, cor. First and Taylor streets, where transportation will be provided to the cemeteries for the purpose of decorating graves.

The floral committee will collect flowers, etc., from the school buildings and various donors on the evening of the 29th or not later than 8 A. M. of Wednesday, and have them at the hall that they may be properly arranged by the ladies of the Women's Relief Corps.

On returning from the cemetery, the 1st Regiment band will report at the armory, to its regimental commander, at 12:30 P. M. for parade, and will report to Capt. Pierce, at the Tabernacle, at 7:30 P. M. for evening services.

III.—Members of the G. A. R. will observe uniformity in dress as far as practicable, members wearing hats or caps, blouses, dark pants and white gloves; the officers will in addition wear belts and swords.

IV.—The several organizations will assemble at their respective headquarters at not later than 1 o'clock P. M. and prepare for parade.

V.—At 1:30 P. M. the procession will form as follows: The Fourteenth United States infantry, under command of Maj. Tully McCrea, on arrival from Vancouver per steamer Lurline will march escorted by the First regiment, O. N. G., up Taylor street to First street, on First to Morrison, on Morrison to Third, on Third halting, with right of line at Salmon street.

The Grand Army division, Capt. N. S. Pierce commanding, with the East Portland zouave cadets, will move from the G. A. R. hall at 1:30 o'clock and form on Yamhill street, right resting on Third street. The Portland Volunteer Firemen's Association and other societies or companies will report to Capt. Pierce for assignment to position. The First regiment, O. N. G., Col. Charles Francis Beebe commanding, will form on Taylor street, right on Third street. The artillery, consisting of Light Battery E, First United States artillery, Lieut. C. L. Best commanding, and Battery A, O. N. G., Capt. W. J. Riley, will form (Battery E on the right) on Salmon street, right resting on Third street. Carriages with George Wright Relief Corps No. 2, invited guests, old soldiers, etc., in charge of Comrade Z. T. Wright, will form on Main street, right on Third street.

Carriages will call for the W. R. C., daughters of the G. A. R., and old soldiers at G. A. R. hall, and for the invited guests at their several residences. The regimental bands will precede their respective commands. Commanders of divisions will observe an interval of 100 feet between divisions.

VI.—At 2 P. M. Procession will march, preceded by a platoon of police under command of Capt. Gritzmacher, up Third street to Jefferson, to First, to D, to Fourth, to Pine, to Fifth, to Salmon, (passing in review at the postoffice, before Col. Thomas M. Anderson and others) to East Park, where the commands will form a hollow square, the regiments in close column by companies, the Fourteenth U. S. Infantry in the center (south), the First O. N. G. on the right (west), and the G. A. R. division on left (east), for memorial services. The artillery companies will be dismissed on arrival of the procession at East Park street. After the services the several organizations will return to their respective headquarters.

VII.—At 4 P. M. Grand concert by the Fourteenth U. S. Infantry band, on Park block. Music as per programme.

VIII.—At 7:30 P. M. Evening exercises at the Tabernacle according to programme, to which the public is cordially invited.

IX.—In the formation of parade the committee requests of all commanders that they be prompt in reporting to the marshal, at the hour specified, that the procession may start promptly at 2 P. M.

X.—The committee requests that business houses be closed in the afternoon and that owners of bunting display the same at half mast as a mark of respect for the memories of the day.

XI.—The commanders of organizations are requested to detail an aide to report to the grand marshal for duty, mounted, at 1 o'clock P. M., at corner of Third and Salmon streets. The following-named comrades are appointed aides from the G. A. R. division, and will report for duty mounted, as designated: M. J. Morse, George Wright post, No. 1; W. C. Powers, Garfield post, No. 3; C. E. DuBois and T. B. McDevitt, Lincoln post, No. 4; J. E. Mayo, Sumner post, No. 12.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 7.

The following are the orders promulgated from the national headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Minneapolis, and in compliance with which the celebration is to be made.

May 30, 1888, will mark the twentieth annual recurrence of Memorial day—a day set apart by the people of a renewed and perpetuated Union in remembrance of those who in life offered all in defense of the national integrity and honor. Although originally instituted by the Grand Army of the Republic, as a means of strengthening and preserving the fraternal ties incident to our union of purpose and effort in a noble cause, the beautiful ceremonial born of our comradeship has been so widely adopted by the loyal hearts of the land that Memorial day has become a great national festival in which tender memories and patriotic purposes rule the hour.

The spirit and customs of our order impose upon all comrades the duty of participating in the public recognition of the day. So far as practicable the usual avocations will be suspended and the occasion marked by some appropriate observance. Though legally a holiday in many departments it is to be jealously guarded from all appearance of merry-making, and from all forms of frivolous or undignified behavior. Let it not be forgotten that our comrades dead were earnest, manly men, who voluntarily faced death for a cause worthy of the sacrifice.

Wherever practicable, posts are directed to attend divine worship in bodies on the Sabbath preceding Memorial day. The clergy are invited to facilitate such attendance and to so order the services of the day as to promote general public interest in the coming anniversary. Let all known graves of the men who fought for the Union, on land or sea, be marked by the pure blossoms of spring, which in all tongues speak the language of gratitude and love. Let the people be assembled for special memorial services, where eloquence and song shall unite to teach and exemplify the duties and rewards of patriotism; and so may "the better angels of our nature" touching "the tender chords of memory which stretch from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over the broad land," so swell the chorus of the Union that no discord shall ever again mar its glorious harmonies.

By command of JOHN P. REA,
Commander-in-Chief.
DANIEL FISH,
Adjutant-General.

FISHING OUTLOOK.

The Catch of Salmon Along the Upper Columbia—Fish Wheels—Higher Water Needed.

Thus far the present season, the catch of salmon on the Columbia river between the mouth of the Willamette and the Upper Cascades has been quite light compared with that of former years. What the two next months may bring forth in the piscatorial line is entirely problematical.

The principal cannery on that part of the river is the one owned by Warren & Co., at Warrendale. Compared with the result of preceding seasons, the output has been decidedly light since the fishing began. The full capacity of that cannery will reach probably 1200 cases daily. This season nearly 150 men, all told, are engaged. The daily output runs all the way from 100 to 1000 cases. Everything depends upon the catch of fish. Some days there is a large supply, probably as many fish as can be conveniently handled, and then there are days when the supply does not reach one-fifth of the capacity. There have been very few days since the opening of the season when the daily output has reached or exceeded 1000 cases.

All the supply of fish is obtained from wheels, there being no seines or nets to speak of used. There are probably not less than twenty-five fish wheels, including stationary ones and those on scows. These wheels have not been very successful, the catch being unusually small. Some of the stationary wheels have not made a single revolution this year, for the simple reason that the water has not been high enough to move them. Several feet more will be required to start those wheels up. From the best authority obtainable it is thought the Columbia will rise five or six feet higher. Should this prediction be verified it will be a great benefit to the owners of these fish wheels and result in a large increase in the season's catch. One reason assigned for the lightness of the run thus far is that the water has not reached a higher stage. The water, however, in the Columbia has been falling slowly for a few days past. Unless the river rises so as to cause a number of the wheels to turn, and at the same time augment the run, the catch on the Columbia between the Cascades and the mouth of the Willamette will be light, however it may be along the the lower course of that majestic stream.

Buckheit's cannery, which is located about two miles below Warrendale, has about one-half the capacity of Warren & Co.'s. With the former canning establishment the output up to date has been about in proportion to the one above.

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY.

Forty-fourth Anniversary Exercises—List of Graduates—Etc.

The Forty-fourth Anniversary Exercises of Willamette University, Salem, Will Begin on June 8 and Continue till June 14.

The university has enrolled 392 students during the school year which will close the 14th of June. The attendance is the largest which the university has ever had. The school has also improved financially during the year. The splendid gift of Father Wilbur amounts to $17,000. In addition to this the agent, Dr. Lower, who has been East since last anniversary, has raised about $7000. The people of Salem have also given over $2000 to enlarge the ladies' hall.

Six students will be graduated from the College of Liberal Arts: Albert S. Mulligan, Æolia Royal, John Jenson, William S. Hetzler, W. C. Hawley, and Harold Oberg. Two will graduate from the Law Department: W. C. Hawley and J. N. Brown. Three from the Conservatory of Music: Jessie Dalrymple, Kate Reynolds and W. H. Bagley.

Prof. John B. Horner, of Roseburg, will deliver the master's oration. Nearly twenty will receive diplomas from the University Academy.

Those who attend the commencement exercises will be returned on the O. & C. railroad at one-fifth fare. Following is the programme of the anniversary exercises:

June 5.—8 P. M. Annual College Prayer Meeting.

June 8.—8 P. M. Re-union of Literary Societies.

June 9.—8 P. M. Commencement of Law Department. Commencement Address, Hon. N. L. Butler, A. M., Dallas, Or.

June 10.—10:30 A. M. Baccalaureate Sermon, Rev. Alfred Kummer, A. M., Portland, Or. 8 P. M. University Sermon, Rev. J. W. Klipper, Portland, Or.

June 14.—10 A. M. Commencement. Commencement Address, Rev. Ross C. Houghton, D. D., Portland, Or. 8 P. M. Re-union and Concert of Musical Alumni.

June 13 and 14.—Exhibition of Art Work.

All who pay full fare on the Oregon & California railroad coming to these exercises can return on one-fifth fare on presenting a certificate from the president.

GREEN MOUNTAIN COAL FIELDS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Via Hillsboro, a thriving town on the O. & C. railroad, over a good road, easy grade and through a beautiful valley with finely improved farms on either side and the beautiful stream called Dairy creek almost at the roadside; by way of Mountain Dale, Quick's Mills and Mr. Raffety's, one of the proprietors of the mines; over the Green mountain, whose name is borrowed for the mines by Mr. Riley Cave, another one of the proprietors of this property, the grand old mountain covered with evergreen timber shading the road and making the trip over the mountain a cool and pleasant one; you at last arrive at Pebble creek, a fine mountain stream on which the mines are located—or coal field, perhaps, would be a better name, as the mines have not been developed much yet; though Messrs. De Hart, Cave, Bailey and Raffety Bros. have gone to work in earnest.

They have gone in on one vein seven feet. This vein is four feet three inches thick and seven feet wide, and dips to the south. The walls and roof so far appear to be good, and the coal is a better quality than there is on Puget sound, so far. It has been tried for blacksmithing and welds all right. Judging from the croppings in the district on Pebble creek the supply seems to be almost without limit. There have been a great many claims taken, although so far not much work has been done. Raymond & Co.'s and the Walker claims will be opened up very soon. They have quite a force and will do something. The prospects for the district seem to be very flattering and the people in the surrounding country are feeling very much elated. Those who have coal claims there think that at last fortune is smiling down on them, and as one, Riley Cave, expresses himself, it means cigars and standing collars to them. After climbing over mountains and scaling the steep sides of the canyons, crawling through brush that will hardly admit of a rabbit's getting away from you you will want something for the inner man, as by that time your enthusiasm has run down to a very low ebb. You will do well to call on Mrs. Adams, who is living near by on the good old Nehalem stream, where the frolicksome trout aboundeth. After a visit to Mrs. Adams's table the grades grow easier and you go forth again full of vim in search of more coal. Up the east fork of the Nehalem where you find coal cropping out in canyons running into the stream, the land is very good along the stream, the valley is not very wide but is good, what there is of it, and there is fine cedar and fir all the way up. Returning again to the main Nehalem you will again require something more for the inner man to screw up courage to again go forth in search of coal on Rock creek, another fine stream, though there is as yet no excitement on this stream. returning again, you will see that there can be a railroad built into the coal fields over an easy grade, running through and opening up a fine country. Fine timber that, together with the coal and stock and produce of the country, will give the road a good business very soon. On your arrival at Hillsboro you will receive a kindly greeting from the good people of that town, which is just now having its full measure of prosperity. The streets are well graded, and they are about to have a competent engineer put in a good drainage system. The court house square will have a handsome new fence around it, also post with chains for tying horses to, with a chain running from one to another, and a platform for horses to stand on. There is a new tile factory three miles north on the plain, and everything wears an air of prosperity.

Other industrial enterprises are located here, among which are the Portland Flouring Mills, the largest in Oregon. A dry dock capable of accommodating the largest ship afloat, is now also under construction. Several companies are now organizing to embark in other industrial and manufacturing enterprises, all of which will be located at Albina, because it is here that
